Koo Says U. S. Aid Will Be Increased

Taipei, Formosa, July 31 (AP)—Dr. Wellington Koo, Nationalist Chinese ambassador to the United States, said today American military aid to the Nationalists would be boosted and the Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG) enlarged.

Koo, here for consultation since July 20, said MAAG's present strength is approximately 800 officers and men.

At the same time the independent newspaper United Daily News asserted that MAAG's emphasis in the training of Nationalist forces now would shift from defensive to offensive.

Sheppard Is Arrested for Wife's Death

Bay Village, Ohio, July 31 (AP)—Maintaining his innocence and complaining that his arrest was unjust, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was jailed last night on a warrant charging him with the murder of his wife.

After pleading innocent in Town Hall, the tall, 30-year-old osteopath was led in handcuffs to his cell.

"I didn't think it could happen in this country," he remarked about his arrest.

Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard, an attractive, 31-year-old expectant mother, was found in her blood-soaked bed the morning of July 4, her face and skull bashed in by 27 savage blows.

Since then, Cleveland police—officially invited into the case only last week—had urged the arrest of her husband, a well-known figure both socially and professionally in this swank lakefront suburb.

Sheppard is charged with first degree murder; authorities claim the slaying of his wife was premeditated.

Miss Susan Hayes, the pretty 24-year-old laboratory technician who formerly worked in the same Bay Village hospital as the doctor, remained today in a downtown hotel, watched over by a police woman.

Possible Witness

She is a possible witness who voluntarily returned from California to Cleveland to tell investigators of her association with the osteopath. County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan said Wednesday she signed a statement telling of intimacies with Dr. Sheppard. At the inquest he had flatly denied he ever was intimate with her.

Dr. Sheppard was wearing a white T shirt when he was arrested and taken before acting Mayor Gershom Barber. On the evening of July 3, neighbors who had dinner at the Sheppard house saw him wearing a white T shirt, but it had disappeared by the next morning. He said he could not recall what happened to it.

The young doctor also was wearing the heavy leather collar which has been around his neck much of the time since the day of the slaying.

MPs Block Violence On Inchon Quarters

Seoul, July 31 (AP)—U. S. Military Police today blocked without violence a demonstration by 250 Koreans against the Inchon quarters of Czech and Polish members of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission.

The MPs stopped the demonstrators at the entrance to a causeway leading from Inchon harbor to the Wolmi Island quarters of the Communist officers.

General Maxwell Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander, had no comment on the incident.

The shouting demonstrators carried banners which read "Drive out the Czech and Polish spies from the neutral nations," and "impose punishment on those who flatter the Czech and Polish spy agents."

Lt. Gen. Won Yong Duk, Republic of Korea Army provost marshal, said yesterday the presence of Communist members of the Supervisory Commission "endangers the security of our country."

President Syngman Rhee declared last week the Red officers were "acting like spies."

The armistice agreement, which the United States still considers valid, provides for stationing of teams of Supervisory Commission members at harbors, airbases and rail heads in both North and South Korea.

Says He Fought

His story—repeated a week ago in long hours of testimony at coroner's inquest—has been that he fell asleep on a down stairs couch, awakened when his wife screamed, and ran upstairs. He said he saw a "white form" and immediately was knocked out. He recovered, grappled with a bushy haired man on the narrow Lake Erie beach back of the Sheppard home, and once again was knocked out.

The doctor's plea was made before an acting mayor because Mayor J. Spencer Houk is expected to be a witness. Houk, a friend and neighbor of the Sheppards, was the first person the doctor called, about 6 a. m. the morning of the murder.

Mrs. Sheppard's interest in golf has given police an idea for finding a murder weapon. She played golf two days before her death. Her golf bag no longer contains a No. 9 iron, the type used to blast out of a trap. Detectives said the No. 9 iron was the sort of club that could have caused the deep gashes in Mrs. Sheppard's head.

A hearing was set for next Saturday.

Burned to Death in Crash

Raritan Township, N. J., July 31 (AP)—Two women were burned to death early today in the fiery crash of three automobiles at an intersection here. Trapped in their burning automobile were the victims, identified by police as Elsie Hoffman, 30, and Helen Sebestyne, both of Fords. The driver of the vehicle in which they died was pulled from the flaming wreckage by rescue squad members. She was 28-year-old Pauline Pavlakos, of Perth Amboy. She was in critical condition in Perth Amboy General Hospital from burns of the body.

Korea President Undaunted by Coolness in Capital

Washington, July 31 (AP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee, undaunted by official coldness to his ideas in Washington, carries to the country this weekend his appeal for a "great crusade" against Communist rule in China.

A statement jointly issued by Rhee and President Eisenhower last night made clear that the 79-year-old Korean leader had met with no encouragement during his talks here for his proposal for a militant campaign against Asia's Red rulers.

It was reported unofficially, however, that Rhee got Eisenhower's assurance of American aid to build up South Korea's military forces to meet the growing power of Communist forces in North Korea.

Explains Plan

A diplomatic informant, asking not to be named, said the planned buildup—to be discussed in further detail in follow-up staff talks continuing in Washington—would involve boosting South Korea's reserve army force and giving her naval craft and jet planes.

By contrast, the joint statement of Rhee and Eisenhower was concerned mainly with very general declarations of cooperation and friendship and a pledge "to move forward" in accordance with the UN charter, to achieve Korean unification.

The charter forbids the use of armed force to obtain a political objective. The meaning of the joint statement in this respect seemed to be that Rhee had agreed that he would not deliberately start up the Korean war again to unify his country.

Rhee's congressional speech and his talk before the overseas writers here yesterday, however, left no doubt of his intent to rally all possible support for his declaration that if Asia is to be saved action must eventually be taken against Communist China.

Sees Misinterpretation

Washington, July 31 (AP)—Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), fervent backer of President Eisenhower, today threw his support behind a move by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) for alleged conduct unbecoming a senator.

But despite this new and perhaps significant recruit, Flanders appeared to be facing an uphill battle in a Senate still boiling with charges fired last night by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) that the attack against McCarthy is Communist-supported.

Duff said in advance of the Senate's resumption of debate today that he intends to vote for the motion to censure McCarthy, accused by Flanders of tarring the nation's honor by such conduct that he "can scarcely avoid being called a Fifth Amendment senator."

It was Flanders' action in calling up his censure motion last night, after the Senate had spent most of the day on a foreign aid bill, that touched off a fiery round of debate which kept the legislators in session until 10:15 p. m.

Flanders' one-sentence resolution offers no penalty against McCarthy, as would an earlier proposal of his to oust the Wisconsin senator from committee chairmanships. The motion merely says it is "resolved" that McCarthy's "conduct . . . is unbecoming a member of the United States Senate, is contrary to senatorial traditions, and tends to bring the Senate into disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned."

Duff, asserting that Indochina had fallen to the Reds while America's attention was riveted to the televised McCarthy-Army hearings, said in an interview that investigative procedures had got "off the track."

"It is imperative that the Senate re-establish rules putting this situation under control and drawing definite boundaries that can't be broken," Duff said. "As a preliminary to this, I shall vote for the Flanders resolution to express my disapproval of the methods that have been followed."

While Duff was joining the slim ranks of Republicans publicly committed to striking at McCarthy, Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, was sounding praise for objections raised against Flanders' move by Sens. Cordon (R) and Morse, (Ind.), both of Oregon.

No Specific Charges

When Flanders read to the Senate his charges that McCarthy held an "habitual contempt of people" and had permitted his investigative subcommittee staff members to compromise America abroad, Cordon rose to as (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Washington, July 31 (AP)—The stock market displayed robust strength this week and refused all chances to decline.

On average the market made its seventh straight weekly advance, an unusually long string of higher markets.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.80 on the week, advancing four days out of five and closed at $133.20, the highest mark for the average since Oct. 22, 1929.

Since the middle of last September, the stock market has been rolling ahead with scarcely any hesitation. Brokers and others have been looking for a reaction constantly, and they still are. A reaction after a long rise is quite normal.

All the market needs, some said, is a good excuse for a break that will permit a firm consolidation of its past gains and lay the groundwork for a continuation of the bull market swing ahead.

On Monday, that chance came. Two Chinese fighters were shot down after they attacked two American naval rescue planes off the Chinese mainland.

And what did the market do? It held perfectly steady. On average it remained unchanged at its 25-year high, and there were (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Washington, July 31 (AP)—Majority leader Knowland (R-Calif.) applied the brakes in the Senate today to prevent the cart from getting ahead of the horse on the administration's multi-billion-dollar foreign aid program.

He asked the Senate Appropriations Committee to delay a scheduled vote on actual funds for the global program against communism until the Senate could complete passage of a required separate authorization bill.

The authorization sets a ceiling for the funds figure so should be passed first, but it got sidetracked before a final vote last night when debate erupted over a move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Amendment Rejected

Before moving on to the censure debate, however, the Senate rejected 81-7 an amendment by Sen. Malone (R-Nev.) that would have killed the foreign aid program. Under Malone's proposal, already appropriated aid funds would have been used to buy American military planes.

At least one major Senate test remained for the authorization bill: An effort by Sen. Long (D-La.) to chop $1,033,000,000 off the $3,100,000,000 ceiling for this year voted by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Long waited for hours to call up his proposal yesterday but lengthy speeches by Sens. Malone and Olin D. Johnston (D.) (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Manila, July 31 (AP)—Two Red Chinese fighter planes that picked a fight with U. S. Navy pilots five days ago ran into "a bunch of tigers," the American air commander said today.

The Chinese were shot down July 26 by the U. S. pilots, who were searching for possible survivors of a British airliner shot down by Red Chinese planes off Hainan Island.

In three action-packed minutes, the navy Skyraiders from the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea blasted the propeller-driven Red fighters into the South China Sea about 15 miles east of Communist-held Hainan. No American casualties were reported.

Protest Rejected

The United States protested to Peiping that the search planes were attacked over open sea. Peiping rejected the protest and charged U. S. planes "violated" the air over Hainan.

The navy pilots—on orders—ignored later tracer fire from a Communist Chinese gunboat escorting two Polish freighters.

Details of the dramatic story were told at a press conference aboard the Hornet today for the first time by Vice Adm. W. K. Phillips, commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet, and the pilots who participated.

"It is my opinion those two Communist pilots exercised very bad judgment," he said.

Phillips commanded the task force, including the carriers Philippine Sea and Hornet, during the rescue operations.

The 11 Skyraiders, 9 of whom fired bursts into the Red planes before they crashed, were commanded by Cmdr. George C. Duncan, of Tacoma, Wash.

Like Bunch of Tigers

Duncan, a veteran of the Korean war credited with 15 Red planes, said his boys were "like a bunch of tigers" when the Red fighter-LA-7s attacked.

The commander said, "it was like World War 2 days again. . . one big ball in the air."

Duncan had scattered his flight in "layers" for the search mission. He, Lt. Roy M. Tatham, of Andrews, N. C.; and Ens. Richard R. Crooks, of Los Angeles, were flying at about 5,000 feet.

The other planes were in groups of four at 3,000 feet and 500 feet.

Supporting them were two F4U fighters, acting as cover and three AD Skyraiders about five-miles to the south serving as communications relay.

Reports Planes

Duncan and Tatham saw the Communist planes at about 6,000 feet almost simultaneously. Tatham said, "There's bogies coming in from starboard."

The Reds barreled in from the seaward side of the navy planes but their bullets went over the Skyraiders.

Duncan, Tatham and Crooks weaved into position. Tatham made one pass but couldn't shoot because Duncan was too close. He made two more tries and hit one Communist plane with machinegun fire both times. Crooks' bullets also found their mark and the Red plane spun into the water.

The other AD Skyraiders below swooped up and opened fire (Continued on Page 10, Col. 8)

Albany, July 31 (AP)—The State Crime Commission ended its three-year search for evil today by urging the man in the street to get into politics and insist on good government.

The commission turned in its fifth and last report to Gov. Dewey and the Legislature, summarizing the results of its investigations and listing 14 new laws that stemmed from its recommendations.

Dewey's office announced that the only two remaining commissioners had resigned their unsalaried posts, Edward P. Mulrooney of New York city on March 31 and Lithgow Osborne of Auburn on April 16. The report marked completion of the agency's job.

The commission's chores have been taken over by the state's new salaried commissioner of investigations, William B. Herndon of New York city. The post was set up to provide a permanent "watch-dog" agency against crime.

Spends $950,000

Up to June 30, the Crime Commission had spent $950,000, but the figure does not represent a final audit of its expenses.

In a postscript to the report Mulrooney and Osborne said "vigilance and vigor" on the part of public officials and political leaders always would be needed to enforce the law.

Those qualities, they continued, can be insured only by "interest and support on the part of the rank and file of the people."

Dewey created the commission and appointed five members on March 19, 1951. Dr. Samuel S. Capen, chancellor emeritus of the University of Buffalo, resigned in 1951; Dean Ignatius M. Wilkinson of Fordham Law School died June 22, 1953, and chairman Joseph M. Proskauer of New York city, a former State Supreme Court Justice, resigned last Dec. 17.

Probed All Lines

The agency was charged with investigating "generally the relationship between organized crime and any unit of government anywhere in the state" and examining the relationship between state government and local law enforcement.

It held public hearings in Canton, Staten Island, Hudson and twice in New York city. Extraordinary grand jury investigations were ordered after the Canton, Staten Island Hudson sessions.

Hudson, July 31 (AP)—Police have charged a New York city executive with reckless driving as the result of a three-car smashup near here yesterday that took the lives of a husband and wife and injured five.

Troopers said Arthur Oppenheimer, 69, (of 21 E. 87th street) would be arraigned on the charge today before a peace justice in the town of Claverack.

Manhattan Vice President

Oppenheimer, vice president of the Manhattan Shirt Co., was booked last night and released on personal recognizance. He suffered minor injuries in the crash, on Route 9H about six miles south of here.

Killed in the smashup was Mrs. Anna Peterson, about 70, of (741 E. 39th street) Brooklyn. Her husband, Severin, 72, died in Columbia Memorial Hospital several hours after the accident.

Two passengers in the Peterson car, Eskil R. Johnson, 57, and his wife Ellen, who gave the same address as the Petersons, were reported in serious condition.

Oppenheimer's wife, Hazel, 68, was listed as serious also.

Swerves From Lane

The driver of the third vehicle, Walter Firth, 34, of Hudson, was treated for minor injuries and discharged.

Troopers said Oppenheimer's automobile swerved from its northbound lane and struck the southbound car driven by Peterson, then rebounded and hit Firth's car, also southbound.

The State Public Service Commission has approved plans for the construction of additional sewer facilities to handle storm flows at the Broadway underpass, it was announced today.

The estimated cost of such construction, exclusive of land damages, is $31,500.

Action by the commission was upon recommendation of Examiner Andrew H. Williamson following a public hearing June 15.

City Represented

Appearing before the examiner at the hearing last month were Mayor Frederick H. Stang and Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy of Kingston, Deputy Chief Engineer E. W. Wendell of the Department of Public Works, and Special Engineer John A. Droege, Jr., of the New York Central Railroad Company.

Heavy rainstorms, such as that experienced Thursday night, have been flooding the Broadway underpass since its completion, creating a dangerous and annoying situation. A man was reported injured Thursday night attempting to replace a manhole cover which had been washed from place at the underpass and two cars had to be towed away.

Williamson stated in his recommendation that a connection from the Broadway storm sewer to the Jacob's Valley sewer as proposed in the plans would provide a "sufficient combined capacity to eliminate flooding of the under

But despite this new and perhaps significant recruit, Flanders appeared to be facing an uphill battle in a Senate still boiling with charges fired last night by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) that the attack against McCarthy is Communist-supported.

Duff said in advance of the Senate's resumption of debate today that he intends to vote for the motion to censure McCarthy, accused by Flanders of tarring the nation's honor by such conduct that he "can scarcely avoid being called a Fifth Amendment senator."

It was Flanders' action in calling up his censure motion last night, after the Senate had spent most of the day on a foreign aid bill, that touched off a fiery round of debate which kept the legislators in session until 10:15 p. m.

Flanders' one-sentence resolution offers no penalty against McCarthy, as would an earlier proposal of his to oust the Wisconsin senator from committee chairmanships. The motion merely says it is "resolved" that McCarthy's "conduct . . . is unbecoming a member of the United States Senate, is contrary to senatorial traditions, and tends to bring the Senate into disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned."

Knowland Asks Caution on Plan For Global Aid
Delay of Vote Requested of Senate Group on Actual Funds for Program

Washington, July 31 (P)—Majority leader Knowland (R-Calif.) applied the brakes in the Senate today to prevent the cart from getting ahead of the horse on the administration's multi-billion-dollar foreign aid program.

He asked the Senate Appropriations Committee to delay a scheduled vote on actual funds for the global program against communism until the Senate could complete passage of a required separate authorization bill.

The authorization sets a ceiling for the funds figure so should be passed first, but it got sidetracked before a final vote last night when debate erupted over a move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Amendment Rejected
Before moving on to the censure debate, however, the Senate rejected 81-7 an amendment by Sen. Malone (R-Nev.) that would have killed the foreign aid program. Under Malone's proposal, already-appropriated aid funds would have been used to buy American military planes.

At least one major Senate test remained for the authorization bill: An effort by Sen. Long (D-La.) to chop $1,033,000,000 off the $3,100,000,000 ceiling for this year voted by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Long waited for hours to call up his proposal yesterday but lengthy speeches by Sens. Malone and Olin D. Johnston (D-La.) kept him from doing so.

State to Spend $31,500 On Underpass Sewers

Manila, July 31 (P)—Two Red Chinese fighter planes that picked a fight with U. S. Navy pilots five days ago ran into "a bunch of tigers," the American air commander said today.

The Chinese were shot down July 26 by the U. S. pilots, who were searching for possible survivors of a British airliner shot down by Red Chinese planes off Hainan Island.

In three action-packed minutes, the navy Skyraiders from the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea blasted the propeller-driven Red fighters into the South China Sea about 15 miles east of Communist-held Hainan. No American casualties were reported.

Protest Rejected
The United States protested to Peiping that the search planes were attacked over open sea. Peiping rejected the protest and charged U. S. planes "violated" the air over Hainan.

The navy pilots—on orders—ignored later tracer fire from a Communist Chinese gunboat escorting two Polish freighters.

Details of the dramatic story were told at a press conference aboard the Hornet today for the first time by Vice Adm. W. K. Phillips, commander of the U. S. 1st Fleet, and the pilots who participated.

"It is my opinion those two Communist pilots exercised very bad judgment," he said.

All Urged To Act in Elections

Crime Commission Is Through, Gives Its Program to a Paid Official

Albany, July 31 (P)—The State Crime Commission ended its three-year search for evil today by urging the man in the street to get into politics and insist on good government.

The commission turned in its fifth and last report to Gov. Dewey and the Legislature, summarizing the results of its investigations and listing 14 new laws that stemmed from its recommendations.

Dewey's office announced that the only two remaining commissioners had resigned their unsalaried posts, Edward P. Mulrooney of New York city on March 31 and Lithgow Osborne of Auburn on April 16. The report marked completion of the agency's job.

The commission's chores have been taken over by the state's new salaried commissioner of investigations, William B. Herlands of New York city. The post was set up to provide a permanent "watch-dog" agency against crime.

Spends $950,000
Up to June 30, the Crime Commission had spent $950,000, but the figure does not represent a final audit of its expenses.

In a postscript to the report Mulrooney and Osborne said "vigilance and vigor" on the part of public officials and political leaders always would be needed to enforce the law.

Those qualities, they continued, can be insured only by "interest and support on the part of the rank and file of the people."

Dewey created the commission and appointed five members on March 19, 1951. Dr. Samuel S. Capen, chancellor emeritus of the University of Buffalo, resigned in 1951; Dean Ignatius M. Wilkinson of Fordham Law School died June 22, 1953, and chairman Joseph M. Proskauer of New York city, a former State Supreme Court Justice, resigned last Dec. 17.

Probed All Lines
The agency was charged with investigating "generally the relationship between organized crime and any unit of government anywhere in the state" and examining the relationship between state government and local law enforcement.

It held public hearings in Canton, Staten Island, Hudson and twice in New York city. Extraordinary grand jury investigations were ordered after the Canton, Staten Island Hudson sessions.

August Weather May Be Normal in U. S.

Washington, July 31 (P)—The weather bureau expects that the central plains area, where July temperatures have been abnormally high, will have about normal weather in August.

It issued this long range weather outlook yesterday: "The weather bureau's 30-day outlook for August calls for temperatures averaging above seasonal normals over the western third of the nation and also in the Middle and North Atlantic states."

"Below normal temperatures are indicated in the upper Mississippi valley and Great Lakes region and along the Gulf coast. "Near normal temperatures are predicted in the remainder of the country including the central plains where July temperatures were abnormally high."

"Precipitation amounts are expected to be subnormal over the western half of the nation but normal or above normal rains are anticipated east of the Mississippi except for subnormal rains along the Atlantic seaboard north of Virginia."

New Uniforms for Russian Children

The apparel worn by schoolchildren in Leningrad, beginning Sept. 1 with the start of the new term will be uniform—steel gray for both boys and girls, according to announcement by Russian Ministry of Education. In addition to cap and badge, a buckled belt will dress up the blouse of the boy. The girls may wear aprons for suitable occasions over their gray dresses. (AP Wirephoto).

Shirt Firm Head Held in Death of Couple at Hudson

Hudson, July 31 (P)—Police have charged a New York city executive with reckless driving as the result of a three-car smashup near here yesterday that took the lives of a husband and wife and injured five.

Troopers said Arthur Oppenheimer, 69, (of 21 E. 87th street) would be arraigned on the charge today before a peace justice in the town of Claverack.

Manhattan Vice President
Oppenheimer, vice president of the Manhattan Shirt Co., was booked last night and released on personal recognizance. He suffered minor injuries in the crash, on Route 9H about six miles south of here.

Killed in the smashup was Mrs. Anna Peterson, about 70, of (741 E. 39th street) Brooklyn. Her husband, Severin, 72, died in Columbia Memorial Hospital several hours after the accident.

Two passengers in the Peterson car, Eskil R. Johnson, 57, and his wife Ellen, who gave the same address as the Petersons, were reported in serious condition.

Oppenheimer's wife, Hazel, 68, was listed as serious also.

Serves From Lane
The driver of the third vehicle, Walter Firth, 34, of Hudson, was treated for minor injuries and discharged.

Troopers said Oppenheimer's automobile swerved from its northbound lane and struck the southbound car driven by Peterson, then rebounded and hit Firth's car, also southbound.

Premier Off to Tunisia

Paris, July 31 (P)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France took off for Tunisia today, apparently to make a personal bid to restore order in that rebellious North African protectorate.

Legion to Elect Officers For State as Parley Ends

New York, July 31 (P)—The 36th annual New York state convention of the American Legion ends today with the election of department officers.

Yesterday's highlight of the three-day meeting was the colorful parade down Fifth avenue with an estimated 15,000 marchers watched by 25,000 others.

The unusual small size of the spectator crowd was attributed to the 90-degree heat along the sun-baked avenue.

The marchers were led by Mayor Robert F. Wagner, himself a Legionnaire. The grand marshal was Paul S. Samuels of Poughkeepsie.

In addition to resolutions against communism and Iron Curtain countries, convention delegates also endorsed an investigation of summer camps for children by a New York state legislative committee. It has been charged that some camps in the state are Communist-dominated.

Another resolution urged Legion officials to petition the State Legislature to permit local option in laws pertaining to bingo and similar games sponsored by legitimate welfare organizations.

Other resolutions were: For issuance of a lapel button by the federal government to honorably discharged veterans of the Korean fighting; and free travel on the state thruway by amputee veterans driving modified automobiles.

The major department resolution will be submitted to the National Legion convention in Washington, D. C., next month.

Retiring State Commander Paul S. Samuels was named chairman of the state delegation to the national meeting.

Stang Gets Action on Situation

Various Hazards Are Stressed at Study of Flood Conditions in Heavy Rains

The State Public Service Commission has approved plans for the construction of additional sewer facilities to handle storm flows at the Broadway underpass, it was announced today.

The estimated cost of such construction, exclusive of land damages, is $31,500.

Action by the commission was upon recommendation of Examiner Andrew H. Williamson following a public hearing June 15.

City Represented
Appearing before the examiner at the hearing last month were Mayor Frederick H. Stang and Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy of Kingston, Deputy Chief Engineer E. W. Wendell of the Department of Public Works, and Special Engineer John A. Droege, Jr., of the New York Central Railroad Company.

Heavy rainstorms, such as that experienced Thursday night, have been flooding the Broadway underpass since its completion, creating a dangerous and annoying situation. A man was reported injured Thursday night attempting to replace a manhole cover which had been washed from place at the underpass and two cars had to be towed away.

Williamson stated in his recommendation that a connection from the Broadway storm sewer to the Jacob's Valley sewer as proposed in the plans would provide a "sufficient combined capacity to eliminate flooding of the underpass during any storm up to an intensity of three inches per hour."

To Provide Easement
The city of Kingston has agreed to provide the necessary easement for the construction of the connection between the two sewers.

The commission also ordered that "the extent to which said estimate of cost includes railroad improvements not an essential part of elimination, and the nature and the amount thereof, be reserved for further consideration and final determination by the commission upon completion of the work, without prejudice to the contentions of any party."

In his recommendations to the full commission Examiner Williamson said from the testimony submitted during the hearing it appeared quite conclusively that—

Examiner's Conclusions
1. The runoff conditions of the area served by the sewers in question, have been changed to a material degree in the interval between the time the plans for this work were originally prepared, and the time the elimination was constructed, a matter of some 11 or 12 years later.

2. The capacities of the sewers provided in the elimination plan to drain this area and the new underpass are presently inadequate to handle reasonable storm flows. This condition has been due to the fact that sewers of equal capacity to those existing prior to the elimination, were not provided by the approved plans. The existing sewers were required to properly drain the area at the time of elimination and should properly have been reproduced in kind or by sewers of equal capacity.

3. The results of the study by the City Engineer's Kingston indicating the inability of the present storm sewers to handle such storm flows were not contested.

4. That flooding of the underpass had occurred on four occasions subsequent to July 9 during the year 1952 and on five occasions during the year 1953 and also on May 3, 1954.

Sewage in Underpass
5. In the original construction of storm sewers in this area a common manhole was provided to serve both sanitary and storm sewer. This was economical but the construction permitted an overflow from the storm sewer to surcharge the sanitary sewer constructed at a lower level. With the construction of the underpass such surcharging, when it occurs, results in sanitary sewage flowing into the underpass with attendant unsightly and unsanitary conditions prevailing.

6. A connection from the Broadway storm sewer to the Jacob's Valley sewer as proposed by these plans, will provide a sufficient combined capacity to eliminate flooding of the underpass.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Just opening up an old Freeman of Thursday, January 7, 1886 one runs across such items as: "Bargains! Humphrey, Crosby and Ennis, corner Union avenue and Ferry street, Rondout, N. Y. wool shawls, skirts, hoods and leggings etc." That's the well built brick building corner Ferry street and Broadway. Then there was Stebbins, Broadhead and Van Wagenen down at 168 Strand and 21 Ferry street. They were informing the public that they would be closed evenings at 6 p. m. except Saturdays. They had "magic" remedies in those days too. Joseph DuBois was the manufacturer of J. DuBois' Bilious Tonic and Blood Purifier, up at 49 North Front street, in uptown Kingston. He had "Rheumatic Liniment or Magic Pain Killer," also "Magic Corn and Bunion Cure or All-Healing Ointment." He was known for his Ulster cologne, besides selling "pure drugs, medicines, spices, notions, seeds, extracts, essences, blacking etc."

At the time Kingston was in the middle of a winter freshet. It seems a storm came up the Hudson Valley one Sunday night and lasted till about 5 o'clock the following Tuesday morning, when the flood waters receded. The streams of Ulster county were swollen very high, and docks flooded. Boatsmen all along both shores of the Rondout Creek were called out early from their beds to double the fastenings to their vessels. Many stayed with their boats all night. All sorts of objects could be seen floating down the stream, having been picked up along the shores.

The ferryboat, Riverside, or Skillyput, running between Rondout and Slightsburgh, by the aid of chains, found it almost impossible to get across the creek. Its trips became few and far between until later in the day when the current was less strong. Every time it went across it was carried down stream as far as its chains would permit, and hundreds of people lined the docks watching its progress, expecting to see the chains break and the Skillyput swept out to the Hudson. Luckily, the chains were of good steel metal and withstood the strain.

In Ponckhockie the water reached the roadway at one time, leaving mud and debris on the banks when the tide went out. The floor of McEntee & Dillon's foundry was submerged, and a gang of men were busy all morning pumping out water. At about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, the heavy logs that had been chained together in the creek in front of Romer & Tremper's and the "City of Kingston's" docks, to keep what ice there was in the streams from those points to Edenville from going out into the river, gave way. The large body of ice that had been held back by this rude barrier now broke loose, and came rushing and crashing down with a velocity that was appalling. It swept everything before it with loud crashes and cakes of ice piling on top of each other like miniature mountains. It is said that the crash of the ice, as it came surging down from Edenville, past Wilbur, was a scene long to be remembered. People were awakened from their sleep and made way to the creek. Later we do not see such excitement on the creek, but I remember when folks down around Rondout would get all excited when even a mild freshet rushed down the creek, and would go down and watch it.

118 Lutheran Changes Are Recommended

New York, July 31 (AP)—A special commission has recommended 118 changes in the organizational structure of the United Lutheran Church.

The 15-member commission announced yesterday that the changes generally would make the denomination, the nation's largest Lutheran Church, "a more effective church."

The proposals will go before the church's biennial convention in Toronto, Canada, Oct. 6-13. As a result of its 18-month study, the commission said, it suggests direct merger of the eight Lutheran denominations of the National Lutheran Council.

These eight groups have more than four million members. The United Lutheran Church has about 2,150,000 members.

Woodstock Play On Show Business Is Next Feature

Woodstock, July 31—Light Up the Sky, Moss Hart's witty and tense comedy about show business, will be the Woodstock Playhouse offering next week from Tuesday through the following Sunday. With Michael Howard directing, the cast will be headed by three well-known New York actresses who are new to the Woodstock stage—Ruth Manning, Ruth White and Diana Douglas. Leading men's roles will be played by William Darrid, Bernard Kates and Michael Lewin, all of whom are featured in the current Playhouse production of Shaw's Widowers' Houses.

The Hart drama takes the spectator behind the scenes to a stage star's hotel suite just before the premiere of a new play. With sharpening suspense, the star, the producer, the director, the playwright and various others await the opening. There are tears and toasts, much mutual back-slapping and—later—a staggering let-down when it looks as if the play had flopped.

Successful Writer

Under Hart's boisterous kidding is a deep insight into and love of theatre people. He himself has been involved with stagecraft since boyhood and has written a score of Broadway successes in addition to Light Up the Sky.

Ruth Manning, who plays Irene, the volatile star, has appeared frequently on the New York stage and has starred in summer stock, radio and TV. The part of Stella, the star's mother, "that redoubtable old pirate," is taken by Ruth White, a noted character actress of stage and television. Diana Douglas, the noisy, glittering Frances, wife of the producer, has had movie leads and has been seen on Broadway as well as on the major TV programs.

Don't Risk Destruction

AVOID LIGHTNING LOSS

One blinding flash may destroy your home, barn or other buildings—kill your livestock and wipe out your lifetime savings. This destruction is absolutely preventable. ELECTRA LIGHTNING ROD SYSTEMS provide positive protection from lightning loss.

Cost of Rot

Rotting wood costs American home owners six billion dollars a year. Most of the loss is so-called dry rot.

Coffee Cans Handy

If you do any painting around the house, save your empty coffee cans. They make perfect containers for mixing paint.

Bring Plants Indoors Before Heat Goes On

Most house plants enjoy being kept outdoors during the summer where they have plenty of fresh air and natural rainfall, which keeps them clean and provides the necessary root moisture. As the time approaches when the outdoor temperature may subject them to damaging or killing frosts, places must be found for them indoors.

Delaying the transfer indoors until the last minute is not to their advantage. Bring them in several weeks before the heating unit is put back into operation. This enables them to adjust themselves to the indoors.

Roadside Beauty

Planting flowers along the outside of the fence or hedge improves the appearance of the roadside and gives passersby additional beauty to see.

Front Porch Can Be Enclosed

Your front porch, unlike the beach or the summer resort, does not have to "close down" on the first chilly day of fall.

For much less expense than building on another room, it can be enclosed and transformed into a living space for year-round use. Enclosing it, in fact, is the ideal solution for the family that needs a den for Dad, a sewing corner for Mother, a spot for entertaining or an emergency guest room.

Use the present structure in so far as possible. The wood, stone or brick of the house will be entirely appropriate for one wall of the enclosed porch.

Plan on plenty of built-in storage space. This is a good place for hobbies, and you'll want storage for them, for a bridge table and chairs and maybe a movie projector.

Floor the enclosed porch with a rugged material such as quarry tile, which has enough color so that no rugs or carpet are needed.

Be sure you have enough outlets for electricity. You'll want lamps and a radio on an enclosed porch, and you may even move the television set out there.

Use single beds for sofas. They will take up little room, and can be used for guests or by the family for summer sleeping on the porch.

Woodstock Play On Show Business Is Next Feature

Woodstock, July 31—Light Up the Sky, Moss Hart's witty and tense comedy about show business, will be the Woodstock Playhouse offering next week from Tuesday through the following Sunday. With Michael Howard directing, the cast will be headed by three well-known New York actresses who are new to the Woodstock stage—Ruth Manning, Ruth White and Diana Douglas. Leading men's roles will be played by William Darrid, Bernard Kates and Michael Levin, all of whom are featured in the current Playhouse production of Shaw's Widowers' Houses.

The Hart drama takes the spectator behind the scenes to a stage star's hotel suite just before the premiere of a new play. With sharpening suspense, the star, the producer, the director, the playwright and various others await the opening. There are tears and toasts, much-mutual back-slapping and—later—a staggering let-down when it looks as if the play had flopped.

Successful Writer

Under Hart's boisterous kidding is a deep insight into and love of theatre people. He himself has been involved with stagecraft since boyhood and has written a score of Broadway successes in addition to Light Up the Sky.

Ruth Manning, who plays Irene, the volatile star, has appeared frequently on the New York stage and has starred in summer stock, radio and TV. The part of Stella, the star's mother, "that redoubtable old pirate," is taken by Ruth White, a noted character actress of stage and television. Diana Douglas, the noisy, glittering Frances, wife of the producer, has had movie leads and has been seen on Broadway as well as on the major TV programs.

Friends and neighbors were sorry to hear of the death of Rose Lennon Smith of Ellenville on Wednesday. She will be buried in Palentown Cemetery.

Mrs. William DiPasqua and son Robert and friends are spending their vacation in their summer home here.

Raymond Lyke, Jr., and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keator of Samsonville Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Lawrence Plioli and daughter and friends called on Mrs. Elmer Barringer Saturday evening.

The 'Ballet'

Non-Fogging Mirror Is New Feature of Bath

Among the new bathroom accessories shown at the recent National Plumbing and Heating Exposition in Chicago was a non-fogging mirror.

If hot water from shaving, a bath, or a shower steams up this mirror, the user merely presses a button and presto!—the mirror is clear. Or it will stay clear if the button is pressed before the steam can get on the mirror.

The button activates a thermostat "blanket" behind the mirror which keeps the mirror heated to just above room temperature, thus preventing condensation or removing it if it does collect on the surface of the mirror. The unit is said to use only as much electricity as a 60-watt light bulb.

Another new bathroom accessory is a soap dish on a swivel, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. At a light touch, it revolves inward to be concealed by a panel flush with the wall. Thus the soap is protected from a shower and will not become soggy.

Another new accessory is a bathroom medicine cabinet with wing mirrors at either side that open at any position to permit the user to view himself from any angle. The mirrors in the wings are actually doors of smaller cabinets which increase the available storage space.

Other accessories include chromium-plated grab bars, either horizontal, vertical, or L-shaped; grab bars combined with a soap tray; and towel bars for installation on the side of a lavatory or on the wall of a bathroom.

Tile Will Provide Outside Drainage

As a general rule you can pretty much count on water collecting exactly where it will do you the least amount of good. This explains why after a rain you are likely to find small lakes right outside the front and back doors and in other spots where traffic is heavy.

One of the best ways to take care of these low spots in the lawn or house grounds is through grading but lots of people don't like the idea of covering a fine lawn with eight or 10 inches of dirt. The other solution to the problem is to install drain tile to carry the excess water away.

The tile must be laid in a ditch of course, and the ditch must be given a slight pitch so that the water will flow through the tile to a dry well or similar point. Make the ditch about 18 inches wide and lay 4-inch clay tile in it, leaving 1/2 inch gap between each section of tile. Cover this gap with a strip of tar paper or wire screening so that dirt won't enter the drainage system. Get hold of some small stones or coarse gravel and use these to fill in around the tile for six or eight inches. Over this goes a layer of fine size gravel and then finally the top soil. When the system is complete and in operation it will carry away all excess water without harming your existing lawn or surrounding trees and shrubs.

Bring Plants Indoors Before Heat Goes On

Most house plants enjoy being kept outdoors during the summer where they have plenty of fresh air and natural rainfall, which keeps them clean and provides the necessary root moisture. As the time approaches when the outdoor temperature may subject them to damaging or killing frost, places must be found for them indoors.

Delaying the transfer indoors until the last minute is not to their advantage. Bring them in several weeks before the heating unit is put back into operation.

This enables them to adjust themselves to the indoors.

Roadside Beauty

Planting flowers along the outside of the fence or hedge improves the appearance of the roadside and gives passersby additional beauty to see.

Coffee Cans Handy

If you do any painting around the house, save your empty coffee cans. They make perfect containers for mixing paint.

Cost of Rot

Rotting wood costs American home owners six billion dollars a year. Most of the loss is so-called dry rot.

The 'Ballet' Has Distinctive Exterior

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three
Closets Six
Cubage:

House 32,800 ft.
Dimensions 66' x 28'

Most distinguishing architectural detail of "The Ballet" this week's offering from the Home of the Week Plan Service and the feature to which this modern one-story house owes most of its exterior appeal, is the slight protrusion of the center of the house.

In the illustration, the protruding section is faced with fieldstone that matches the wide center chimney. Contrasting with the shingled exterior of the rest of "The Ballet" the fieldstone more effectively emphasizes the protrusion.

Simple landscaping will complement—without overshadowing—the natural beauty of "The Ballet." With overall dimensions of 66'x28" this house and attached garage will require at least a 90 foot lot. Total cubage is 32,800 feet.

There are six good sized rooms, plus a laundry utility room in "The Ballet." In addition to two regular bedrooms there is a room designed to be used as a third bedroom or as a guest room or den. These rooms all feature good lighting and ventilation.

The dining room proper is conveniently near to the kitchen. Actually a part of the kitchen, the breakfast area is a handy, comfortable spot in which to serve family lunches and between-meal snacks as well as breakfast.

Plenty of centrally located storage space is another feature of "The Ballet" certain to win approval from many prospective home builders. The housewife will appreciate the door leading directly from the laundry to the back yard; she won't need to carry the laundry hardly any distance at all to hang it out to dry.

Since only the heating plant must be installed in the basement of "The Ballet" you'll have lots of room for storage as well as for a recreation room. The good sized garage will provide welcome storage space for screens, lawn and garden tools, etc.

Front Porch Can Be Enclosed

Your front porch, unlike the beach or the summer resort, does not have to "close down" on the first chilly day of fall.

For much less expense than building on another room, it can be enclosed and transformed into a living space for year-round use. Enclosing-it, in fact, is the ideal solution for the family that needs a den for Dad, a sewing corner for Mother, a spot for entertaining or an emergency guest room.

Use the present structure in so far as possible. The wood, stone or brick of the house will be entirely appropriate for one wall of the enclosed porch.

Plan on plenty of built-in storage space. This is a good place for hobbies, and you'll want storage for them, for a bridge table and chairs and maybe a movie projector.

Floor the enclosed porch with a rugged material such as quarry tile, which has enough color so that no rugs or carpet are needed.

Be sure you have enough outlets for electricity. You'll want lamps and a radio on an enclosed porch, and you may even move the television set out there.

Use single beds for sofas. They will take up little room, and can be used for guests or by the family for summer sleeping on the porch.

It's Atomic-Proof Buildings Now

Resistance to atomic blast can be built into new multi-story buildings for an average additional construction cost of about 3 per cent, according to a new booklet of the federal civil defense administration.

Titled "An Interim Guide for the Design of Buildings Exposed to Atomic Blast," the technical manual was prepared to meet the request of builders, engineers and contractors for information on the lessons learned from the damage at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

It describes the effects of an atomic explosion on buildings, suggests methods to increase the blast resistance of new construction, and points out hazards to be eliminated in shelter areas. Copies are on sale for 15 cents by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C.

Grouping Pictures

One of the newer and smarter ways to use a group of pictures is to pyramid them in three rows with one at the center top, two in the next row, and three in the bottom row.

EXPERIMENT IN ECONOMY

At the Mitchell Air Force Base an experiment in encouraging the economical use of material and manpower is paying off. The sergeant judged to be doing the most to eliminate waste of personnel and materials is given a "manager of the month" award. In addition he is given a two-day, all-expense paid weekend in New York city and a special leave to visit any base in the United States.

Officers at Mitchell field report that in May and June the idea resulted in a saving of $23,260. Sergeants work to find ways to eliminate duplication of tasks, needless paperwork and unnecessary personnel.

Aside from the immediate gain at the Mitchell Air Force Base the experiment may have some good long-range results. The noncommissioned officers there who are made aware of the need for thrift and intelligent use of manpower will retain the knowledge and in their subsequent army careers they can apply it.

The nature of problems faced by the military makes a certain amount of waste inevitable. In peace or in actual fighting an army's job is to be prepared for war. This means that there must be some duplication, some extra men and supplies around that may never be needed. It is better to have an unused surplus sometimes, than to have a shortage in a critical moment. But economy and intelligence can often eliminate unnecessary waste and expense. It is good to see our services taking steps to encourage such economy.

RED WAR ON FAITH

The Russian newspaper Pravda recently urged a renewal of the campaign against religion. In a front page editorial it referred to religion as a "clinging, harmful remnant of capitalism." It demanded that all Communist party organizations undertake "scientific and atheistic propaganda" to show believers the error of their ways.

It is not difficult to see why the men in the Kremlin regard religion as a deadly enemy. All the great religions teach that man is responsible for his actions and this doctrine alone brings religion in conflict with the Red idea that the end justifies the means. Religion teaches that man has dignity, bears within him a spark of the Divine. Communism would reduce man to the state of an animal with no other goal than satisfaction of his animal wants.

From time immemorial tyrants have tried to erase religion from the hearts of men—some have even assumed the role of gods and commanded the worship of their subjects. Yet persecution and propaganda have never succeeded in wiping out men's faith in the Divine. Rather, the world's great religions have been strengthened by persecution and when the tyrants have died and been forgotten believers have gone on teaching their messages of hope, love and faith.

The Communists, with their "scientific, atheistic propaganda," will be no more successful than their predecessors who set themselves up against God.

And you think the cost of groceries is high? The average man in his eight-hour day must toil almost an hour longer to earn the money to meet his taxes than to feed his stomach!

LIFE IN POLAND

Andrzej Panufnik, one of Poland's leading conductors and composers, who escaped from behind the Iron Curtain and now is living in London, recently described life in the country he left. He told of serious food shortages, particularly of meat, and an atmosphere of oppression that is literally driving Poles to drink. He said that alcoholism has become a serious problem there.

The life of a creative artist in Poland, said Panufnik, is difficult and frustrating. A composer must adhere to the strict party line, must attend countless party meetings and functions. Personal liberty is unknown. Only people who have lived under this form of tyranny can know what it means. The Polish people, like others behind the

REVISION OF THE HEARINGS

The Jenner Committee has been holding a prolonged series of hearings on the subject of revising current methods of holding Congressional hearings or perhaps establishing rules, by legislation, by which all Congressional committees will be required to abide. Many Senators, Representatives and delegates from public organizations presented their ideas before the Jenner Committee and much of it is ripe.

Reading the testimony has been a more than usually difficult chore because few of those who testified had anything constructive to say and I fear that some of them only appeared because they hoped to attract a headline. Some of the suggestions, if adopted, could only have served to prevent hearings from taking place at all. However, Senator Charles Potter of Michigan, who has gained considerable attention by voting with the Democrats in the McCarthy Committee, made a point which is worthy of comment:

"I do not believe that rules in themselves insure an effective, efficient and fair investigation. I have seen committees with lax rules conduct excellent investigations. I have seen committees with excellent rules conduct investigations which did not approach the standards expected. We must recognize that the element of personality is an important factor in Congressional committees."

This is altogether true because the conduct of a hearing depends entirely upon the chairman, who has great authority if he wishes to use it. When Senator Tom Walsh presided over the committee that investigated the Teapot Dome Scandal, he pushed his committee work forward to a conclusion. His associate, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, stood out so that today only Walsh and Wheeler are remembered in connection with this committee. It requires research to recall others on the committee. On the other hand, the Nye Committee was entirely controlled by its staff, which included a large number of Communists. One of the most disreputable committees of the Congress was that headed by Hugo Black, who, nevertheless, became an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court which so outraged public opinion at the time that President Roosevelt had to deliver his Quarantine Speech to take the sting out of the news of Black's appointment.

There can be no question but that the McCarthy Committee, of which Mr. Potter is a member, has been managed entirely by Senator McCarthy with which idea Mr. Potter went along for more than a year. The Democratic members of this Committee retired from it for some months, objecting to McCarthy's procedures, but no Republican member of the Committee challenged Senator McCarthy's solo management until after January of this year when the White House objected to the Wisconsin Senator's apparent competition for party leadership. This was the essential issue in the recent McCarthy-Stevens hearing, which might more correctly be termed, the McCarthy-Sherman Adams conflict.

During the preliminary quarrels which led to the open break between Senator McCarthy and the White House, a proposal was made to the Senator, of which I knew at the time, that in his investigations of government departments, he hold only Executive sessions, in secrecy and in silence so far as the public is concerned, and that whatever he learned be placed at the disposal of the White House.

This proposal was rejected. After all, the Committee on Investigations exists by act of Congress to uncover, to disclose, to expose wrongdoing in the Executive branch of the government. Senator Potter has now come up with the same proposal in his statement before the Jenner Committee.

"Knowing the Chief Executive desires wholeheartedly to cooperate with the legislative branch, I believe it would be highly desirable if the President designated a personal representative to receive the findings of investigating committees and act upon them. The committee concerned should then be advised to the action taken. NEUROSES

"Neurosis" (plural neuroses) has been defined as a disorder of the nervous system for which no cause can be found. There are various types of neuroses with one or another of which we are all familiar.

Many of us suffer with some form of the "compulsion" neurosis, in which the patient, actually against his wish, has to think certain thoughts, or perform certain actions. Thus he have the fear that the gas is not turned off, or he may have "religious" obsessions such as going to hell and missing heaven. These persons know that their thoughts or actions are foolish but are powerless to control them. They are often above the average intellectually.

Another neurosis is called "traumatic" neurosis (from trauma meaning injury) and this occurs in individuals who have been injured at their work, wounded in war, injured in a motor accident. Even after the injured part has recovered or the wound completely healed, they so suffer in their mind from the shock of the injury that they are unfitted for some time to do any physical work even when there is no physical disability. So real is traumatic neurosis to the individual that compensation boards, pension boards, judges and juries now award compensation, pension or damages not only for the physical injury but for the damage done to the nervous system which renders these individuals, for a considerable time, unable to earn their usual salary or wages.

Another common neurosis is the "cardiac" (from "cardio" meaning heart). You can hardly blame a person for thinking he has heart trouble if his heart is beating 90 times to the minute instead of 72-76, if the beating is irregular, if the heart seems to stop for a second, or if he has a pain in the region of his heart but there is actually no real heart disease present.

The point is that while there may be no real or organic reason for the individual to believe he has heart, kidney, lung or other trouble, the fact that he has the belief makes him less fit to do his work properly and less able to face life's problems.

The treatment consists in making a thorough examination so that both patient and physician know that no real organic ailments exist. If there is no organic ailment, an attempt is made to locate the cause or causes of why the patient believes he has an ailment and why he behaves as he does. This means just as thorough an examination and searching as was made to locate any organic trouble.

Washington (NEA)—Rep. Sidney R. Yates, a Chicago Democrat, has come to the conclusion that most of the arguments in favor of 90 per cent of parity price supports are about as circuitous as Albert Einstein's simplified explanation of the theory of relativity. Congressman Yates tells this story to show what he means:

Professor Einstein was taking a walk with a blind friend on a hot day. He remarked that he would like to have a drink of milk.

"I know what a 'drink' is," said the blind man, "but what is 'milk'?"

Einstein replied: "Milk is a white liquid."

"Liquid? I know," said the blind man. "But what is 'white'?"

"The color of swan's feathers," replied Einstein.

"Feathers? I know, but what is 'swan'?"

"A swan is a bird with a crooked neck."

"Neck? I know, but what is 'crooked'?"

Einstein took the blind man's arm and held it out. "This is straight," he said. Then, bending it, he explained, "This is crooked."

"Ah!" said the blind man. "Now I know what 'milk' is."

"And that, in a nutshell," said Einstein, "is my theory of relativity."

The Solicitor General Sobeloff added, "Not that I lay claim to any celestial recognition."

Housing and Home Finance Agency is nursing a research project to see if low-cost single-family dwellings can be built for low-income families in all but the largest metropolitan areas.

What they have in mind is a $7,000 house that can be purchased for $200 down and monthly payments of $55 on a 40-year mortgage. Low income families in cities, now pay $50 a month rent in multiple-unit public housing, and this is not considered too steep.

HHFA Administrator Albert M. Cole, while he was a member of Congress, was opposed to public housing. Now, as head of the government's housing program, he feels that in the present interim period, while the government has a slum clearance program, it must have public housing to take care of the people who are displaced as the cities clean out their blighted areas.

Instead of trying to put all these former slum dwellers in multiunit public housing projects, FHA planners are now shooting at trying to relocate some of the families in outlying single family developments.

Putnam Book Will Be Sold Soon On Life in Congo

Woodstock, July 30 — Scheduled for release on September 23, by Prentice-Hall, is Anne Elmer Putnam's story of her life in the African jungle titled Madam. Her co-author is Allan Keller, Mrs. Putnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Elmer, is a frequent visitor here and well known to many Woodstockers. Sub-titled, My Eight Years of Adventure with the Congo Pygmies, it tells the exotic and exciting story of the artist's life and adventures in the depths of the African jungle.

After eight years of happy life in the jungle with her late husband, Patrick T. Putnam, Mrs. Putnam is remaining in her jungle home following the tragic death of her husband in December, 1953, at the age of 49. When she first met the dashing anthropologist, she fell in love with him. Forsaking comfort, security, and a promising career as a painter, Anne married Pat and went with him to make their home in the heart of the Belgian Congo. "Home" became the hotel-laboratory-hospital he had established on the Equili river over a hundred miles from the nearest outpost of civilization.

Frequent stories have appeared in this column about adoption of a pygmy baby, named for her father, and the mite's crib trimmed with a Woodstock dress. The pygmy tribe that camped close to Camp Putnam has always fascinated her and became her special interest. She spent long periods of time among them, learning their customs and language, painting them in their natural surroundings, frequently helping to solve their problems. She performed highly skillful surgical operations, managed the "business ventures" of the pygmies and the other natives, and settled tribal disputes. She has witnessed weird rituals, and has gained a unique understanding of these pook-like little creatures.

Madam contains the collected wealth of Anne's vivid experiences, including the threat of crocodiles, driver ants and leopards. She has frequently escaped the bites of vipers and wild monkeys.

Married to a man of unusual stature in his own field, Pat received glowing tribute in the winter-spring edition of The Explorers Journal. It said: "Pat's ideas were different from those of most men; he was usually thought impractical and not easy to understand. But his conception of what a camp ought to be in the Ituri forest was original and readily appreciated by anyone with a love of natural history. Camp Putnam and its founder will not be forgotten by his wide circle of friends."

"Near Camp Putnam the Pygmies have established a rather permanent village, but they still roam the forest to hunt and set up their tiny leaf-covered huts, spreading their hunting nets, shooting their tiny arrows, making bark cloth, and dancing. Anne organized a most amusing group of singers, which she called Ndege (birds). They began by imitating the calls of various birds of the forest and finished with a rollicking melody of parrots, hornbills, and plaininaters in full cry. This performance was unforgettable. At such times the Pygmies had the run of the Putnam home and showed not the slightest trace of shyness."

Madam not only presents new and authentic information about life in Africa, but also introduces Anne Putnam, a clever, intelligent and talented personality to the literary world. More than a travel book, more than a factual report, her vivid personality is inherent in this heart-warming human story.

Anne's co-author, Allan Keller is a prominent staff writer and columnist on the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Thomas Jr. visited Camp Putnam and made documentary films at that time.

Library Fair Has Record High of $8,200 for 1954

Woodstock, July 30 — The heavens opened late Thursday afternoon, but the good-natured throng of visitors to the 27th annual Woodstock Fair, more than generously opened their pockets before the deluge and fair proceeds swelled to a record gross of $8,200. Long before the noon opening visitors were jammed outside the entrance gate and swept across the fairgrounds on the heels of the Zena School Band, in crisp blue and white uniforms, which gave the event a spirited sendoff under the direction of Antonio Merola of Glasco.

Several new features lived up fully to expectations, adding color and gaiety to the occasion. Not far from the entrance Mrs. Jay Allen's "dress-up" hat table caught immediate attention and before an hour had passed the fair grounds were fairly bobbing with giddy and gaudy bonnets and her counter was soon devoid of toppers. It is axiomatic in Woodstock that no one ever wears a hat except on Library Fair day, but the table of conventional millinery was equally popular, including the beautiful display of chapeaux by famed designer Mabel Parks of Tulsa, Okla., who was at the table in person.

Early in the afternoon the five hand-carved handsomely painted merry-go-round steeds went on the block for equally handsome sums. The horses were all carved by William Spanhake, and the one painted by Doris Lee and Arnold Blanch went to Shirley Michaelman; Edward Chavez's to the Wetherhouse Shop in Woodstock; the one painted by Maud and Miska Petersham to the library fair car committee; the bright aqua horse painted by Julio DeDiego to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper; and a guest at Pinecrest Lodge bid highest for the horse painted by Howard Mandel.

For a time late in the afternoon it was thought that the fair proceeds would not exceed by a great deal last year's gross take of $7,865.64. However, several groups turned in amounts which brought the total up to $8,200.

There were the usual miles of hot dogs, slices of watermelon, ice cream, sandwiches and cold drinks consumed, a steady stream of both adults and children in line for the three performances of the Peppermint Puppets, and an active contingent of youngsters participating in the games on the midway. The bright gas-filled balloons went up, and often kept on going up to the shrill protests of the youngest fairgoers present, but there were plenty more on hand.

As usual the jewelry, clothing, linen and draperies tables were three and four rows deep in customers, while the books, artists supplies and flower tables attracted those more in a mood to browse, preferring to select with more leisure. Great expectations kept the fair at a high pitch until the last article was dispensed with.

Houston Richards and Jack Marquardt shared the emcee's mike and kept the crowds informed of events and items of interest, including lost children, bags and car keys.

Traffic rolled smoothly through the village throughout the afternoon owing to the fine efforts of Corporal Ray Dunn, Trooper Dauch, Constables Clarence Snyder and Charles Farley, and Deputy Sheriff Chester Wolven.

EXPERIMENT IN ECONOMY

At the Mitchel Air Force Base an experiment in encouraging the economical use of material and manpower is paying off. The sergeant judged to be doing the most to eliminate waste of personnel and materials is given a "manager of the month" award. In addition he is given a two-day, all-expense paid weekend in New York city and a special leave to visit any base in the United States.

Officers at Mitchel field report that in May and June the idea resulted in a saving of $23,260. Sergeants work to find ways to eliminate duplication of tasks, needless paperwork and unnecessary personnel.

Aside from the immediate gain at the Mitchel Air Force Base the experiment may have some good long-range results. The noncommissioned officers there who are made aware of the need for thrift and intelligent use of manpower will retain the knowledge and in their subsequent army careers they can apply it.

The nature of problems faced by the military makes a certain amount of waste inevitable. In peace or in actual fighting an army's job is to be prepared for war. This means that there must be some duplication, some extra men and supplies around that may never be needed. It is better to have an unused surplus sometimes, than to have a shortage in a critical moment. But economy and intelligence can often eliminate unnecessary waste and expense. It is good to see our services taking steps to encourage such economy.

RED WAR ON FAITH

The Russian newspaper Pravda recently urged a renewal of the campaign against religion. In a front page editorial it referred to religion as a "clinging, harmful remnant of capitalism." It demanded that all Communist party organizations undertake "scientific and atheistic propaganda" to show believers the error of their ways.

It is not difficult to see why the men in the Kremlin regard religion as a deadly enemy. All the great religions teach that man is responsible for his actions and this doctrine alone brings religion in conflict with the Red idea that the end justifies the means. Religion teaches that man has dignity, bears within him a spark of the Divine. Communism would reduce man to the state of an animal with no other goal than satisfaction of his animal wants.

From time immemorial tyrants have tried to erase religion from the hearts of men—some have even assumed the role of gods and commanded the worship of their subjects. Yet persecution and propaganda have never succeeded in wiping out men's faith in the Divine. Rather, the world's great religions have been strengthened by persecution and when the tyrants have died and been forgotten believers have gone on teaching their messages of hope, love and faith.

The Communists, with their "scientific, atheistic propaganda," will be no more successful than their predecessors who set themselves up against God.

LIFE IN POLAND

Andrzej Panufnik, one of Poland's leading conductors and composers, who escaped from behind the Iron Curtain and now is living in London, recently described life in the country he left. He told of serious food shortages, particularly of meat, and an atmosphere of oppression that is literally driving Poles to drink. He said that alcoholism has become a serious problem there.

The life of a creative artist in Poland, said Panufnik, is difficult and frustrating. A composer must adhere to the strict party line, must attend countless party meetings and functions. Personal liberty is unknown. Only people who have lived under this form of tyranny can know what it means. The Polish people, like others behind the

The Jenner Committee has been holding a prolonged series of hearings on the subject of revising current methods of holding Congressional hearings or perhaps establishing rules, by legislation, by which all Congressional committees will be required to abide. Many Senators, Representatives and delegates from public organizations presented their ideas before the Jenner Committee and much of it is ripe.

Reading the testimony has been a more than usually difficult chore because few of those who testified had anything constructive to say and I fear that some of them only appeared because they hoped to attract a headline. Some of the suggestions, if adopted, could only have served to prevent hearings from taking place at all. However, Senator Charles Potter of Michigan, who has gained considerable attention by voting with the Democrats in the McCarthy Committee, made a point which is worthy of comment:

"I do not believe that rules in themselves insure an effective, efficient and fair investigation. I have seen committees with lax rules conduct excellent investigations. I have seen committees with excellent rules conduct investigations which did not approach the standards expected. We must recognize that the element of personality is an important factor in Congressional committees."

This is altogether true because the conduct of a hearing depends entirely upon the chairman, who has great authority if he wishes to use it. When Senator Tom Walsh presided over the committee that investigated the Teapot Dome Scandal, he pushed his committee work forward to a conclusion. His associate, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, stood out so that today only Walsh and Wheeler are remembered in connection with this committee. It requires research to recall others on the committee. On the other hand, the Nye Committee was entirely controlled by its staff, which included a large number of Communists. One of the most disreputable committees of the Congress was that headed by Hugo Black, who, nevertheless, became an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court which so outraged public opinion at the time that President Roosevelt had to deliver his Quarantine Speech to take the sting out of the news of Black's appointment.

There can be no question but that the McCarthy Committee, of which Mr. Potter is a member, has been managed entirely by Senator McCarthy with which idea Mr. Potter went along for more than a year. The Democratic members of this Committee retired from it for some months, objecting to McCarthy's procedures, but no Republican member of the Committee challenged Senator McCarthy's solo management until after January of this year when the White House objected to the Wisconsin Senator's apparent competition for party leadership. This was the essence of the recent McCarthy-Stevens hearing, which might more correctly be termed, the McCarthy-Sherman Adams conflict.

During the preliminary quarrels which led to the open break between Senator McCarthy and the White House, a proposal was made to the Senator, of which I knew at the time, that in his investigations of government departments, he hold only Executive sessions, in secrecy and in silence so far as the public is concerned, and that whatever he learned be placed at the disposal of the White House.

This proposal was rejected. After all, the Committee on Investigations exists by act of Congress to uncover, to disclose, to expose wrongdoing in the Executive branch of the government.

Senator Potter has now come up with the same proposal in his statement before the Jenner Committee:

"Knowing the Chief Executive desires wholeheartedly to cooperate with the legislative branch, I believe it would be highly desirable if the President designated a personal representative to receive the findings of investigating committees and act upon them. The committee concerned should then be advised to the action taken. In my opinion, this would unquestionably make for a greater degree of effective cooperation between the legislative and executive branches.

"If the committee is not satisfied with the action taken by the executive branch, it may then proceed with a full scale investigation and hearing."

This means nothing more than the cover-up. (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

One Army Prisoner Is Still Being Sought

Pt. Dix, N. J., July 31 (AP)—One of a pair of soldier-prisoners who broke away from a work detail Thursday was back in custody today, while authorities sought his partner.

Pvt. Robert Fliescher, 20, of Valhalla, N. Y., was grabbed shortly after noon yesterday at the north end of the post.

Still missing is Robert E. Elliott, 18, of Stamford, Conn.

The two men, described as "medium custody prisoners," knocked out their guard, Pvt. John B. Stevens, 21, of New York and fled from their work in the post's motor pool. A third member of the detail did not try to escape.

Fliescher was in the stockade for two consecutive six-month terms for being absent without official leave for three months. He was due to get out in January.

Elliott was to be freed Oct. 19 after serving a term for being AWOL for 35 days.

Putnam Book Will Be Sold Soon On Life in Congo

Woodstock, July 30 — Scheduled for release on September 23, by Prentice-Hall, is Anne Eisner Putnam's story of her life in the African jungle titled Madami. Her co-author is Allan Keller. Mrs. Putnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Eisner, is a frequent visitor here and well known to many Woodstockers. Sub-titled, My Eight Years of Adventure with the Congo Pygmies, it tells the exotic and exciting story of the artist's life and adventures in the depths of the African jungle.

After eight years of happy life in the jungle with her late husband, Patrick T. L. Putnam, Mrs. Putnam is remaining in her jungle home following the tragic death of her husband in December, 1953, at the age of 49. When she first met the dashing anthropologist, she fell in love with him. Forsaking comfort, security, and a promising career as a painter, Anne married Putnam and went with him to make their home in the heart of the Belgian Congo. "Home" became the hotel-laboratory-hospital he had established on the Equilu river over a hundred miles from the nearest outpost of civilization.

Frequent stories have appeared in this column about adoption of a pygmy baby, named for her father, and the mite's crib trimmed with a Woodstock dress. The pygmy tribe that camped close to Camp Putnam has always fascinated her and became her special interest. She spent long periods of time among them, learning their customs and language, painting them in their natural surroundings, frequently helping to solve their problems. She performed highly skillful surgical operations, managed the "business ventures" of the pygmies and the other natives, and settled tribal disputes. She has witnessed weird rituals, and has gained a unique understanding of these pook-like little creatures.

Madami contains the collected wealth of Anne's vivid experiences, including the threat of crocodiles, driver ants and leopards. She has frequently escaped the bites of vipers and wild monkeys.

Mary to a man of unusual stature in his own field, Pat received glowing tribute in the winter-spring edition of The Explorers Journal. It said: "Pat's ideas were different from those of most men; he was usually thought impractical and not easy to understand. But his conception of what a camp ought to be in the Ituri forest was original and readily appreciated by anyone with a love of natural history. Camp Putnam and its founder will not be forgotten by his wide circle of friends."

"Near Camp Putnam the Pygmies have established a rather permanent village, but they still roam the forest to hunt and set up their tiny leaf-covered huts wherever they care to tarry. Anne Putnam became an enthusiastic over the forest and its Pygmies as was her husband, and worked with Pat to make the camp a going concern. For the benefit of guests, visits of a day by groups of Pygmies were arranged at Camp Putnam. With charming unconcern and naivete, they would display their skills in building domed huts of phrynum leaves, climbing trees, spreading their hunting nets, shooting their tiny arrows, making bark cloth, and dancing. Anne organized the most amusing group of singers, which she called Ndege (birds). They began by imitating the calls of various birds of the forest and finished with a rollicking melody of parrots, hornbills, and plantain-eaters full cry. This performance was unforgettable. At such times the Pygmies had the run of the Putnam home and showed not the slightest trace of shyness."

Madami not only presents new and authentic information about life in Africa, but also introduces Anne Putnam, a clever, intrepid and talented personality to the literary world. More than a travel book, more than a factual report, her vivid personality is inherent in this heart-warming human story.

Anne's co-author, Allan Keller is a prominent staff writer and columnist on the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Thomas Jr., visited Camp Putnam and made documentary films at that time.

Library Fair Has Record High of $8,200 for 1954

Woodstock, July 30 — The heavens opened late Thursday afternoon, but the good-natured throng of visitors to the 27th annual Woodstock Fair, more than generously opened their pockets before the deluge and fair proceeds swelled to a record gross of $8,200. Long before the noon opening visitors were jammed outside the entrance gate and swept across the fairgrounds on the heels of the Zena School Band, in crisp blue and white uniforms, which gave the event a spirited send-off under the direction of Antonio Merola of Glasco.

Several new features lived up fully to expectations, adding color and gaiety to the occasion. Not far from the entrance Mrs. Jay Allen's "dress-up" hat table caught immediate attention and before an hour had passed the fair grounds were fairly bobbing with giddy and gaudy bonnets and her counter was soon devoid of toppers. It is axiomatic in Woodstock that no one ever wears a hat except on Library Fair day, but the table of conventional millinery was equally popular, including the beautiful display of chapeaus by famed designer Mabelle Parks of Tulsa, Okla., who was at the table in person.

Early in the afternoon the five hand-carved handsomely painted merry-go-round steeds went on the block for equally handsome sums. The horses were all carved by William Spankne, and the one painted by Doris Lee and Arnold Blanch went to Shirley Michaelman; Edward Chavez's to the Weatherlane Shop in Woodstock; the one painted by Maud and Miska Petersham to the library fair committee.

The bright aqua horse painted by Julio DeDiego to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper; and a guest at Pinecrest Lodge bid highest for the horse painted by Howard Mandel.

For a time late in the afternoon it was thought that the fair proceeds would not exceed by a great deal last year's gross take of $7,865.64. However, several groups turned in amounts which brought the total up to $8,200.

There were the usual miles of hot dogs, slices of watermelon, ice cream, sandwiches and cold drinks consumed, a steady stream of both adults and children in line for the three performances of the Peppermint Puppets, and an active contingent, despite the heat, participating in the games on the midway. The bright gas-filled balloons went up, and often kept on going up to the shrill protests of the youngest fairgoers present, but there were plenty more on hand.

As usual the jewelry, clothing, linen and draperies tables were three and four rows deep in customers, while the books, artists' supplies and flower tables attracted those more in a mood to browse, preferring to select with more leisure. Grease expecters kept the fair at a high pitch until the last article was dispensed with.

Houston Richards and Jack Marquardt shared the emcee's mike and kept the crowds informed of events and items of interest, including lost children, bags and car keys.

Truffle rolled smoothly through the village throughout the afternoon owing to the fine efforts of Corporal Ray Dunn, Trooper Dauch, Constables Clarence Snyder and Charles Farley, and Deputy Sheriff Chester Wollen.

HEALTH FOR ALL

"It Isn't the Heat"

It's the humidity. It's your imagination. Anything but the heat.

Let's stop pretending. Summer heat in most of the United States is just as hot as tropical heat. And it's not an "unusual" summer. It's every summer. It's time we took some lessons from our friends in the tropics—time to learn how to live with the heat we can't explain away.

Let's take a walk through a town that's right on the equator. Notice the way the people walk—slowly on the street are dressed? Men in white that reflects the sun's rays, women in long sleeved blouses, and cotton sarongs to the ankles—clothes that cover up, but fit easily, allowing the air to circulate. Notice that just about everyone wears some sort of head covering, or carries a parasol. Now let's go into this little home almost hidden by green, leafy trees. It's nighttime, and everyone is taking a siesta—if not sleeping, at least lying down for a short rest in the shade. When they get up, they'll have a shower, sluicing themselves with tepid water from that huge pottery jar. They may do this three or four times a day, and in between they'll frequently bathe head and arms.

Dinner time comes late, in the comparative cool of the evening. And it's not a light meal of salad. They eat highly spiced meat, vegetables, rice and fresh fruit, but few of the heat and energy-giving foods containing fats and sugar.

The cooling properties of hot spices are in the category of hitting yourself on the head with a hammer. It feels so good when you stop. We may not want to adopt that tropic custom, but there are some that may well add to our summer comfort: clothes that protect from the sun's heat, yet allow air to circulate on the skin; food that is appetizing, yet provides all the necessary nutrients; frequent bathing in tepid water. The midday siesta may not always be practical, but we can walk, not run, on the shady side of the street. We can try to get plenty of rest. Most important, we can admit that it's hot, and adjust to the fact instead of fighting it.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's Spot Not To Double Your Foe

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

When reasonably sensible opponents get to a slam contract, it doesn't pay to double them. You won't beat sensible opponents much, so your double cannot gain more than 50 or 100 points for you. If the double happens to turn sour, it will cost you far more than 50 or 100 points.

When today's hand was played, West thought that he could afford to ignore this general rule about avoiding slam doubles. He expected to win a trick with the ace of diamonds and he thought his trump holding would be good for two other tricks, but he was doomed for disappointment.

West opened the ace of diamonds and South ruffed. After some thought, South tested the situation by leading the ace of hearts. When East discarded a diamond the situation was quite clear.

South led a spade to dummy's jack and ruffed a second diamond, entered dummy with the king of spades to ruff a third diamond, then cashed the ace and king of clubs, followed by the ace of spades. Holding his breath, South next ruffed dummy's last diamond.

When this ruff succeeded, West was reduced to his three trumps. South could lead his losing club, and West had to ruff the trick. Now West had to lead away from his queen of hearts, thus giving the last two tricks and the doubled slam contract to declarer.

South would have made the contract, to be sure, regardless of whether or not West doubled. Hence the double cost West only 230 points. If he had beaten the slam his double would have gained only 50 points. Hence West was giving odds of better than 4 to 1 that he would defeat a contract that he couldn't actually beat. This sort of thing makes a player look very foolish and thus tends to hurt partnership morale.

Robbers Crash Truck for $18,000

New York, July 31 (AP)—Four robbers teamed up to escape with an $18,000 pay roll in Brooklyn yesterday by crashing a truck into a pay roll car, kidnapping the two occupants and locking them inside an empty beer truck.

The two victims, Al Botway, 58, of Beechhurst, Queens, and Edward Renschler, 60, of Brooklyn, were transporting the pay roll from a bank to the Long Island Coast, Apron & Towel Supply Co. when a truck crashed into their auto in a lonely warehouse section.

After the crash, three armed men jumped from a nearby sedan and disarmed Renschler, a company guard, of a .38-caliber gun. The driver of the truck joined the other bandits and they forced Botway and Renschler into the sedan. Botway is an executive with the Long Island firm.

After driving about Brooklyn for a while, the robbers spied a parked truck near the Schaeffer Brewing Co. plant and ordered the two victims into it. They slammed the doors shut and locked them.

With the temperature well into the 80s, Botway and Renschler were almost suffocated before a passerby heard their cries and pounding. The pair had been locked in the truck for about an hour.

SUGGESTING OWN WEDDING
GIFT

A bride-to-be writes: "I am going to be married soon and an aunt of mine told me that she was going to give me a coffee table for a wedding present. I have seen just the table that would go perfectly with the rest of my furniture and which I would like very much to have. Could I possibly tell her about this table, or do I have to 'take what I get and say nothing?' I have no idea what she intends to spend but the table I have in mind is not exorbitant in price, and for all I know the one she is going to buy might be twice the price of this one. I would appreciate your opinion on this matter."

I think as she has told you what she is going to get you, you can tell her that in case she has not already selected your coffee table you have seen one at such and such a store that you would love to have and that will match your furniture perfectly.

An Exception to the Rule

Dear Mrs. Post: I know that you have always said that when an engagement is broken, the girl must return the engagement ring. However, my situation is a little different. The diamond in my engagement ring belonged to my mother and my fiancé had it reset for me and added several smaller diamonds to it. Under the circumstances, would it not be proper to keep the ring?

Answer: Definitely, yes.

When to Wash Dishes

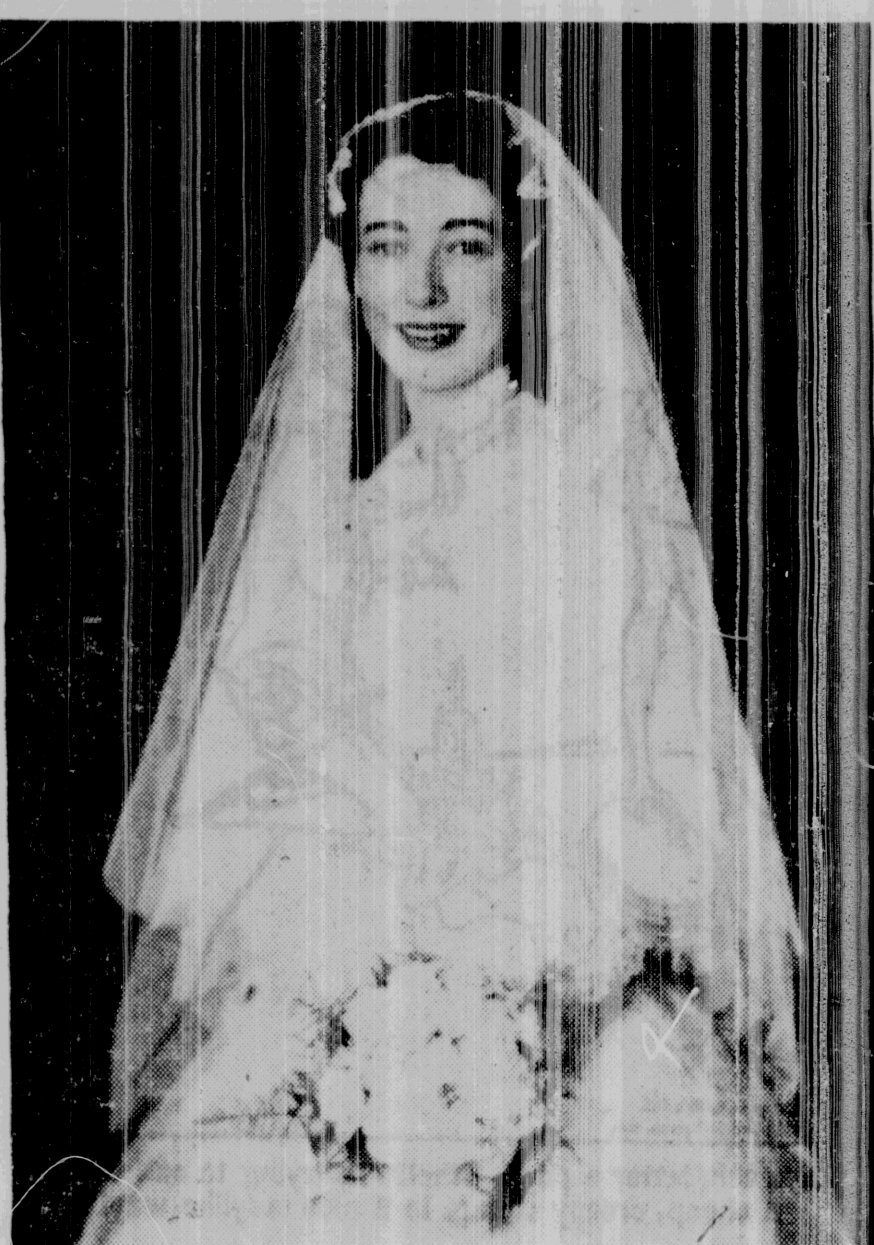

Dear Mrs. Post: When invited to dinner in the house of one who does not have a maid, shouldn't the hostess put aside the dishes until after her guests have gone home? At least that is what I do in my house. However, so many hostesses start to clean up as soon as dinner is over and it more or less puts a guest on the spot to help with the dishes. Isn't this bad manners on the part of a hostess?

Answer: She should put off washing the dishes unless they are members of her family or most intimate friends.

What size should table napkins be, and how should they be folded? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. You will find the answer to the above question included in leaflet E-32, "Table Linen." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. 51 Arrested During
N. Y. Drive on Crime

New York, July 31 (AP)—Fifty-one persons were arrested last night and early today in the Times Square area as a result of a police crackdown on "undesirable characters" including loiterers, juvenile gangs and persons annoying pedestrians.

Those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct, vagrancy, loitering, using loud and boisterous language, annoying passersby, and blocking the sidewalk.

Chief Inspector Stephen P. Kennedy said the police campaign was in response to complaints by residents and visitors to the area, and added: "It's a bad situation and we're going to keep after them."

JACOBY
ON BRIDGEHere's Spot Not To Double Your Foe

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When reasonably sensible opponents get to a slam contract, it doesn't pay to double them. You won't beat sensible opponents much, so your double cannot gain more than 50 or 100 points for you. If the double happens to turn sour, it will cost you far more than 50 or 100 points.

When today's hand was played, West thought that he could afford to ignore this general rule about avoiding slam doubles. He expected to win a trick with the ace of diamonds and he thought his trump holding would be good for two other tricks, but he was doomed for disappointment.

West opened the ace of diamonds and South ruffed. After some thought, South tested the situation by leading the ace of hearts. When East discarded a diamond the situation was quite clear.

South led a spade to dummy's jack and ruffed a second diamond, entered dummy with the king of spades to ruff a third diamond, then cashed the ace and king of clubs, followed by the ace of spades. Holding his breath, South next ruffed dummy's last diamond.

When this ruff succeeded, West was reduced to his three trumps. South could lead his losing club, and West had to ruff the trick. Now West had to lead away from his queen of hearts, thus giving the last two tricks and the doubled slam contract to declarer.

South would have made the contract, to be sure, regardless of whether or not West doubled. Hence the double cost West only 230 points. If he had beaten the slam his double would have gained only 50 points. Hence West was giving odds of better than 4 to 1 that he would defeat a contract that he couldn't actually beat. This sort of thing makes a player look very foolish and thus tends to hurt partnership morale.

Robbers Crash
Truck for $18,000

New York, July 31 (AP)—Four robbers teamed up to escape with an $18,000 pay roll in Brooklyn yesterday by crashing a truck into a pay roll car, kidnapping the two occupants and locking them inside an empty beer truck.

The two victims, Al Botway, 58, of Beechhurst, Queens, and Edward Renschler, 60, of Brooklyn, were transporting the pay roll from a bank to the Long Island Coast, Apron & Towel Supply Co. when a truck crashed into their auto in a lonely warehouse section.

After the crash, three armed men jumped from a nearby sedan and disarmed Renschler, a company guard, of a .38-caliber gun. The driver of the truck joined the other bandits and they forced Botway and Renschler into the sedan. Botway is an executive with the Long Island firm.

After driving about Brooklyn for a while, the robbers spied a parked truck near the Schaeffer Brewing Co. plant and ordered the two victims into it. They slammed the doors shut and locked them.

With the temperature well into the 80s, Botway and Renschler were almost suffocated before a passerby heard their cries and pounding. The pair had been locked in the truck for about an hour.

Rain Not Enough To Help State Farms

Albany, July 31 (AP)—The spectre of drought still held its withering grip on New York state today, a hold unbroken by scattered rains that wetted most of the sun-parched fields during the week.

Most of the state's drouth-plagued farmers reported some rainfall during the week, but it was, they said, far from enough to rescue dying crops.

And weather forecasters say that although light showers may fall, there is no sign that the coming week will bring the three-inch downpour farmers say they need to stave off serious financial losses.

National League Stars Defeat Glasco in District Tourney, 5-2

Miscues Decide Game as Teams Get Only 4 Hits

Three Games Slated Today at LL Stadium

Kingston's National Little League All Stars turned back the Glasco All Stars, 5-2, yesterday behind the 2-hit pitching of Mike Spada and Don Kruszenski, in the District 4 tournament at Little League Stadium.

At 10 o'clock this morning, Highland and the Esopus Legion League all stars were scheduled to resume the game interrupted by rain Thursday.

Esopus was at bat with one out and runners on second and third in the bottom half of the second.

A doubleheader was to follow this afternoon, with Ellenville playing Saugerties at 1:30 p. m. Kingston American Stars were to take on Walden in the nightcap.

About 700 watched as Kingston salted yesterday's game away with a four-run explosion in the fourth. Don Kruszenski relieved Mike Spada during a 2-run Glasco rally in the fifth and then fanned the side in the sixth inning.

The two Glasco safeties were a single and double by Gabriel DePaola.

Errors Hurt Sarkies

Ray Sarkies, a courageous right hander held the Nationals to only two hits but was the victim of wholesale collapse of the Glasco defense. Francis Reid picked up both Kingston hits.

Sarkies' woes started early in the game. Outfielder Kitchard dropped leadoff Doug Mellin's fly to start the game with Mellin winding up on second base when catcher Joe Ferraro tried to pick him off. Reid's first single then scored him to put Kingston ahead 1-0.

Comes the Collapse

The fourth inning was a shambles, with the Nats scoring four times on only one hit—a single by Reid—a pitcher's balk and five Glasco miscues.

Glasco scored twice in the fifth when Spada loaded the bases on free passes to Frank Miasai, a pinch hitter, Paul Natale and Andy DePaola. Gabriel DePaola singled for one run and Spada wild pitched for the second. Kruszenski relieved him at this point and held Glasco without further damage.

THIS IS IT: Golfers competing in the sixth annual Freeman hole-in-one tournament Sunday at Woodstock Country Club will see this view from the tee. The specially designed hole is a 140-yard carry from tee to cup, with a trap on the left side and a sloping green on the right. The shot will represent a solid 6 or 7-iron for most players. Each contestant will hit four Dunlop Maxflis. First place winners in the men's and women's division will receive handsome golf clocks. Play starts at 9 a. m. and runs until all entries have been accommodated. No schedule has been published but starting times will be allotted as near to that requested as possible.

Giants and Indians on Treadmill in July

By BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer

Only four of the 16 major league clubs gained ground in the pennant races in July, but neither the New York Giants nor the Cleveland Indians were able to strengthen their first-place positions.

The Indians, in fact, have lost half a game of the edge they held exactly 30 days ago. The New York Yankees, one of the four clubs which improved, replaced Chicago as Cleveland's nearest pursuer and moved from four games behind to 2 1/2, pending today's action.

The Giants sailed into July leading Brooklyn by three lengths. On the last day of the month they still are three in front of the Dodgers.

The major change in the National League standing involved third place. Philadelphia, third a month ago, won only 10 of 30 games and skidded all the way to sixth. Milwaukee pulled up from fourth, 12 games back, to third, 9 games behind the Giants.

Braves on Spree

The Braves ran their current winning streak to eight last night with a solid 9-3 triumph over Brooklyn and have three more games with the Dodgers and three with the Giants coming up in the next 10 days.

Cleveland and the Giants both made headway last night. The Indians whipped Washington 8-3 while the Yankees were being trounced 10-0 at Baltimore. The Giants defeated Cincinnati 6-1 with all of the New York runs coming on homers and Brooklyn lost at home to Milwaukee for the fifth time in six games.

In other action St. Louis tripped the stumbling Phillies 12-3; Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs split a pair with the Pirates winning the first 8-6 and losing the second 8-5; the Chicago White Sox pushed the Philadelphia Athletics into the American League cellar 4-2; and Detroit whipped Boston 5-0.

Erskine Collapses

Milwaukee spotted Brooklyn three runs in the first inning, then got them all back with plenty to spare as Carl Erskine lost his stuff after three hitless innings. Danny O'Connell hit a three-run homer. Joe Adcock hit into the seats with one aboard.

Ernie Johnson, who took over from Bob Buhl with two out and three runs home in the first, chilled the Dodgers on two singles the rest of the way.

The Cardinals got power hitting from unexpected sources in their victory over Cincinnati. Pitcher Ruben Gomez drove in two with a blast to the left field seats, his first of the year, and Don Mueller hit his second homer of the season. Wes Strum and Hank Thompson also homered.

The Cardinals' hitting spree at Philadelphia included a bases-loaded triple by catcher Bill Sarni and a double and triple by pitcher Harvey Haddix, who posted his 15th victory.

Sauer Cracks Two

Ralph Kiner walked twice in the Pittsburgh double-header and each time Hank Sauer drove him in with a home run, running his season's total to 32.

Art Houtteman, one of the best of Cleveland's "second line" pitchers, won his 10th game as the Indians rallied for five runs in the second inning and routed Washington rookie Dean Stone. Jim Hegan drove in four of the Indians runs.

The Yankees got their first look at Baltimore's new lights and they didn't like what they saw. Bob Kennedy hit a grand slam home run and drove in two other runs as the Orioles broke Allie Reynolds' 10-game winning streak.

Ned Garver limited Boston to four hits and Al Kaline insured the Detroit triumph with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Bob Keegan of the White Sox ran his victory total to 13 at the expense of the Athletics.

Cockell Kayoes Matthews in 8th

Seattle, July 31 (AP)—Burly Don Cockell dreamed today of an early whack at Rocky Marciano and the world's heavyweight title after his lethal fists—with an assist from a slipped scroliac—disposed of Harry (Kid) Matthews last night in the eighth stanza of a scheduled 10-round fight.

Matthews, unable to stand erect because of his damaged back, could not come out for the eighth against the British Empire champion, who outweighed him 210 1/2 pounds to 180.

Cockell had the edge all the way and the crowd of 10,478, which paid $91,000 to see the somewhat sour finish, though it was his head-hunting attack which left Matthews helpless.

The 32-year-old Seattle kid was bleeding at mouth, nose and ear as he slumped to his stool at the end of the seventh.

Actually, he said later, the damage was done in the third round when he threw a right at Cockell, who was shrugging off everything the kid could toss.

"It was a helpless feeling," he said. "I couldn't move fast and get out of the way of Cockell's punches."

U. S. Needs Doubles To Trip Cuba in Cup

St. Petersburg, Fla., July 31 (AP)—The United States was favored to clinch its Davis Cup tennis match with Cuba by taking the doubles contest today.

Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., and Hal Burrows of Charlottesville, Va., represented the United States against the Garrido brothers, Reinaldo and Orlando.

The U. S. team swept the opening singles matches yesterday. Clark beat Reinaldo Garrido 6-0, 9-7, 7-5 and Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., defeated Orlando Garrido 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

Maxwell Annexes Army Golf Title

Washington, July 31 (AP)—Cpl. Billy Maxwell, a club-swinging infantryman, was headed for Chicago today, carrying with him the All-Army golf championship and a desire for some of the Tam O'Shanter $100,000 tournament prize money.

In his first three rounds the 1951 Amateur champ slashed a total of five strokes from par 72 on the 7,028-yard Woodmont Country Club course. A final 72 yesterday gave him a 72-hole total of 283, two better than runner-up Cpl. John Weaver of Houston.

The senior division crown went to Lt. Col. Marnie L. Raley, Ft. Monmouth, N. J., who ignored rank and dumped Lt. Gen. George Decker, 3 and 2, in the final for players over 45. Decker, of Catskill, N. Y., is army controller and now stays at Ft. Myer, Va.

There will be 78 boats, representing 23 clubs, in the 12th U. S. Atlantic Tuna Tournament off Pt. Judith, R. I., between Aug. 31-Sept. 2.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Redlegs appeared in three All-Star games and one World Series.

The injured men were identified as John Walsh, 31, of 57-17 256th street, Jamaica, Queens, and William Bullard, 31, of 86-15 Little Neck Parkway, Belmore, Queens.

Police said the pair had spotted a woman driving north of the westside highway without lights and stopped her along the highway, parking their car behind hers. While Walsh was questioning the woman, Mrs. Lillian Harrison of 103 34th avenue, Corona, Queens, police said, another automobile crashed into the parked car.

The driver was identified as Ray Orser, 63, of 601 West 160th street. He was quoted by police as saying he blacked out just before hitting the police car. Walsh and Bullard were taken to Knickerbocker Hospital where Walsh was reported in serious condition with a dislocated right shoulder and a laceration of the left chest. By JIMMY HATLOAirline Abandons Plan*For Monticello Stop

Ithaca, July 31 (AP)—Mohawk Airlines has abandoned plans to add a Monticello stop to its New York-Liberty helicopter passenger service.

Robert E. Peach, president of the airline, said yesterday that the decision followed a meeting Thursday between Mohawk representatives and hotel operators in the Catskill resort area.

Peach said a hotel official who had requested the service with an offer to provide a certain number of passengers daily "had failed to attend the meeting."

Mohawk won Civil Aeronautics Board approval earlier this month to add the Monticello stop to its route.

Police Crack DownOn Chinese Policy

New York, July 31 (AP)—Police have cracked down on a Chinatown numbers racket and even without understanding the language figured they broke up a million-dollar-a-year operation.

Detectives of the confidential squad said their raid last night netted them quantities of numbers equipment and 230,000 paper slips covered with Chinese characters.

The detectives admitted they could not read what was written on the slips, but a reporter for a Chinese language newspaper advised that he had never seen so many policy slips before.

The detectives said they had confiscated a safe, which they were unable to open immediately, a punching board, notebooks, rubber stamps, printing equipment and abacuses, or Oriental computing devices.

Arrested in the raid were Sam Yee, 49, and Sic Lem, 38. They were booked on charges of maintaining a place and apparatus for policy playing and sale of lottery policies.

Police Crack Down On Chinese Policy

New York, July 31 (AP)—Police have cracked down on a Chinatown numbers racket and even without understanding the language figured they broke up a million-dollar-a-year operation.

Detectives of the confidential squad said their raid last night netted them quantities of numbers equipment and 230,000 paper slips covered with Chinese characters.

The detectives admitted they could not read what was written on the slips, but a reporter for a Chinese language newspaper advised that he had never seen so many policy slips before.

The detectives said they had confiscated a safe, which they were unable to open immediately, a punching board, notebooks, rubber stamps, printing equipment and abacuses, or Oriental computing devices.

Arrested in the raid were Sam Yee, 49, and Sic Lem, 38. They were booked on charges of maintaining a place and apparatus for policy playing and sale of lottery policies.

Cheap Politics Charged In Railroad Plan

Albany, July 31 (AP)—A spokesman for Gov. Dewey says the New York city administration has demonstrated "transparent hypocrisy and cheap politics" in efforts to block a state plan for reorganizing the bankrupt Long Island Rail Road.

The remarks were made yesterday by Harry J. O'Donnell, the governor's press secretary, in a statement commenting on an attempt by the administration of

Two Held for Burglary

New York, July 31 (AP)—Police have arrested two New Jersey men on charges of burglary and announced the pair had been trailed for two days and had been seen looting two mid-town apartments. They were identified as Andrew Gentile, 43, and Carl Endter, 23 both of Jersey City.

Police said Gentile described himself as a longshoreman and had a record of at least 12 previous burglary arrests. They said Endter gave his occupation as a painter and admitted two earlier burglary arrests.

Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner to sidetrack the proposal.

The city's corporation counsel, Adrian P. Burke, protested the plan last week before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington. He said it would permit the Pennsylvania Railroad, under whose management the line failed, to take over again, free from all regulatory controls.

O'Donnell called the city's protest "a belated, politically partisan face saving gesture."

Freighter Sails

London, July 31 (AP)—The Polish freighter Jaroslav Dabrowski, carrying American citizen Joseph Cort to political asylum in Czechoslovakia, lifted anchor in the Thames river today and headed for the open sea after 13½ hours detention by British police. The ship was held up as police and home office officials wrangled with the Communist captain over a Polish stowaway who was reported seeking political asylum in Britain. British officials and police left the vessel, but it was unknown whether they had taken the stowaway ashore.

Jackson, Miss., July 31 (AP)—Gov. In announcing the special session, White told the Legal Educational Advisory Committee (LEAC) yesterday that until the last few days, he believed a certain element of Negroes would support separate but equal schools.

Speaks for Ground Forces

Harriman, July 31 (AP)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway, army chief of staff, says the nation should not forget the value of ground forces in an overemphasis on air power and nuclear weapons. "It is vitally important to remember that wars are won by the achievement of domination over human beings and the territory they inhabit, and that only land forces can achieve and maintain such domination," he declared last night.

Esposito Returns to Business

Discharged this month as a sergeant in charge of instructions in orthopedic shoe repair for the first and second army areas, Joseph C. Esposito has rejoined his brother, Carl J. Esposito, in their shoe store, 462 Broadway. While in service for two years Sgt. Esposito held training classes for officers relative to proper fitting and repairing of army shoes as shown in the photo taken at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. (Army photo)

Hits Property Fence; Fined $10 in Court

Edward Pietrowski, 61, of Linderman avenue extension, who was arrested about midnight by Officers Everett Emnick and Joseph Kivlan charged with driving south on Wall street as an unsupervised learner, was fined $10 this morning in city court by Special Judge Harry Gold.

Pietrowski was arrested after he was in collision with a 35-foot fence on the property of E. J. Linson of 113 Fair street, police said. The car was damaged in the right fender.

Suggests Condenser

Washington, July 31 (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) today suggested that the Senate Investigations Subcommittee "hire a condenser to condense the condensation" of McCarthy Army hearings testimony prepared by Special counsel Ray H. Jenkins. Potter and other subcommittee members said Jenkins' summary of the evidence and testimony is so voluminous they may not be able to wade through it and write their verdict before Congress adjourns.

Gives Tunis Control

Tunis, Tunisia, July 31 (AP)—France gave Tunis control of its internal affairs today—with a few strings attached—in a lightning effort by Premier Pierre Mendes-France to end the terrorism in this troubled protectorate. Acting with the authority of his cabinet, the premier told the Bey of Tunis that if he desired, a new government could be formed which, except for defense and foreign affairs, would be empowered to negotiate with France the terms of the new internal sovereignty.

No Cool Clue

New York, July 31 (AP)—The weather man, hot under the collar like everybody else here these days, scanned his charts today for just any kind of a hint of a cool breeze heading this way. Then he mopped his brow again and opined that, if there were any such clue, he certainly couldn't find it. By this time the blazing morning sun already had boosted the temperature above yesterday's mark for the same hour.

Plane Is Located

Wiesbaden, Germany, July 31 (AP)—A giant air-sea search for a U. S.-bound airliner reported down in the North Sea with 72 persons aboard was called off at the last minute today when word came that the plane had landed safely in Iceland. A spokesman at U. S. Air Force headquarters tabbed as a "false alarm" the report that the big plane belonging to Transocean Airlines had "ditched" in the North Sea while en route from Frankfurt to the United States.

Contempt of Congress

Washington, July 31 (AP)—The House voted contempt of Congress citations yesterday against two Chicagoans who refused to answer questions before a House Labor Subcommittee in connection with an investigation of alleged mishandling of labor union welfare funds. The two are Allen Dorfman, an agent of the Union Casualty & Life Insurance Co. of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and his father, Paul Dorfman, head of the Chicago Waste Handlers Union.

Rejects Food Offer

Berlin, July 31 (AP)—The East German Communists today rejected President Eisenhower's offer of food and other aid for flood victims in the Soviet zone. The official party organ, Neues Deutschland, called the offer "disreputable" and a guise for American hiring of agents and spies. It suggested the United States would better "provide some real help" for West Germany by reducing occupation costs.

New State Traffic Summons Will Be Used Here Oct. 1

Violations of the state motor vehicle and traffic law which now require the booking of drivers at police headquarters, will need only the issuance of summons, when new state traffic forms become effective Oct. 1, Police Chief Raymond VanBuren said today.

The new tickets or summons will be effective statewide for violations of the state law, but the tickets now used will continue to be issued for city traffic code violations.

Drivers who are arrested on such charges as speeding, reckless driving, and operating vehicles without licenses will be given the new state tickets in the fall. The tickets will permit "no fixing" because copies are sent to Albany, and licenses will be marked with such violations as are sustained. The licenses of drivers, who now forfeit bail on such charges as speeding are not marked.

Mayor Arrested

Birmingham, Ala., July 31 (AP)—Mayor Elmer E. Reese of Phenix City, Ala., was roused from his sleep in a Birmingham Hotel early today and arrested on a charge of wilful neglect of duty. The warrant, served on Mayor Reese by Lt. Col. Jack Warren, military sheriff of Russell county under the limited martial law which has prevailed in Phenix City for the past nine days, charged the city official with permitting the operation of slot machines. Reese was in Birmingham as a spectator to attend today's meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee at which an attempt was to be made to nullify the nomination of three Russell county officials because of disclosures of fraudulent voting in the recent Democratic primary.

To Continue Hotel

New York, July 31 (AP)—The Hotel Astor, a landmark of the Times Square area, has been leased by the real estate firm of Webb & Knapp and two associates—Jack D. Weiler of New York and Benjamin H. Swig of San Francisco. Rumors that the 51-year-old hotel will be replaced by an office building were immediately denied by William Zeckendorf, president of Webb & Knapp. "On the contrary," he said, "we are now making plans to elaborate the old world conform and services which make the Astor renowned."

Shooting Spree

Highland Park, N. J., July 31 (AP)—A husband went on a shooting spree early today after a family argument, killed his sister-in-law, critically wounded his wife, and then shot himself to death, police reported. Authorities said Charles W. Westendorf, 30, critically wounded his wife, Gloria, 28, killed his sister-in-law, Irene C. Jones, 28, of Belmar, and then turned the gun on himself. Both Westendorf and his sister-in-law died instantly from the bullet wounds.

Fire Damages Famed Pier

Atlantic City, N. J., July 31 (AP)—Fire started under the boardwalk last night ate out part of the famed Steel Pier here, causing damage near a half million dollars. Four stores at this mecca for sightseers and convention delegates were damaged as the flames raced along a half-block area.

Truman Back to Work

Kansas City, July 31 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, who underwent an operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix June 20, worked in his office here for an hour yesterday. It was Truman's first visit to his office since being discharged from the hospital July 7.

Hudson Officers Deny Taking Any Protection Money

Hudson, July 31 (AP)—Four of nine Hudson policemen suspended on charges of misconduct have testified at their departmental trial that they never took protection money from gambler Benjamin Goldstein or anyone connected with him.

The officers, who took the stand yesterday in their own defense, also denied the general charges brought against them. They testified that they had passed along to their superiors—as ordered—any information obtained concerning gambling or prostitution.

Goldstein had testified as a prosecution witness that he paid all nine of the officers to protect a floating crap game.

The policemen who appeared yesterday were Patrolmen William Spanburg, William Fitzgerald, Lloyd Hart and Joseph Harkinson.

The other defendants, Sgts. Frederick Finck and William Egan, and Patrolmen Arthur Finch, Lawrence McDonald and Joseph Patera, were expected to testify today.

All Nine Accused

All nine are charged with agreeing and conspiring among themselves to aid, abet and assist gamblers, bookmakers and operators of houses of prostitution from 1947 to sometime in 1950.

Spanburg and Fitzgerald, citing an example of action taken against gamblers, told of raiding a restaurant dice game in 1949 with Thomas P. Kennedy, former Columbia District Attorney.

Earlier, yesterday, Kennedy, now county attorney, and former Sheriff Milton V. Saulpaugh took the stand to deny testimony by Goldstein that the gamblers had paid them in 1949 and 1950 to protect gambling in the city.

Says He Contributed

Recalled to the stand later in the trial, Kennedy said he had contributed to a fund raised to help Goldstein defend himself against bribery charges. He said he had given his contribution to Richard Saulpaugh, brother of the ex-sheriff.

Saulpaugh, testifying the day before, said he had loaned Goldstein money to open a taxi business and had collected money for the gambler's defense in order to protect his loan.

Kennedy said he had contributed to the fund out of friendship with Richard Saulpaugh.

State to Spend pass during any storm up to an intensity of three inches per hour.

"The City of Kingston," he continued, "has agreed to provide the necessary easement for the construction of the connection to the Jacob's Valley sewer at its sole expense, recommends that the plans submitted be approved and the remedial work be carried out and assures the commission, that if this is done the flooding conditions will be obviated and the work of elimination will be accepted in its entirety by the city."

"It is unfortunate that the plans for this elimination were not revised in harmony with the conditions as they existed, when the work was progressed. We are, however, confronted with a condition which now exists, namely, the inadequacy of the storm drain and the objectionable depositing of sewage in the underpass during heavy storms. I believe the changes outlined in the plans submitted by the State Department of Public Works and further indicated, in the estimate of cost submitted, are necessary to provide a remedy for the existing situation."

Fitzgerald 'Satisfactory'

The condition of Walter Fitzgerald of 79 Hoffman street, a retired Kingston partolman, was reported "satisfactory" at Benedictine Hospital today. Fitzgerald was taken to the hospital last Saturday with a broken leg suffered when he fell down a 30-foot embankment at the intersection of the Eddyville road and Route 32. He was employed as a special deputy directing traffic on a Thruway intersection at that point when he apparently became ill and fell down the embankment, according to a report in the Ulster county sheriff's office.

Treated for Abrasions

Allen G. Lindros of Shore road, Waterford, Conn., was treated at Kingston Hospital last night for abrasions of the nose after he was allegedly struck by an automobile at John and Wall streets, according to a report on the local police blotter. The mishap occurred at 9:32 p. m. Police said the car, a 1946 sedan, was operated by Joseph Scully, 18, of 117 Newkirk avenue.

Out Flew a Pigeon

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—Firemen rushed to an office building this morning on a report of an explosion. From the street they could see a shattered window on the fifth floor. As the firemen set up their ladders there was another sharp report, and out of another closed window, now also shattered, flew a pigeon. The firemen are looking for the bird to fit it with eye glasses.

At Underwriting School

Herman J. Eaton, president of Herman J. Eaton, Inc., insurance agency of this city, has returned from Storrs, Conn., where he attended the 11th annual Life Underwriting School held during the week at the University of Connecticut. More than 60 representatives of the nation's leading insurance companies attended the sessions.

Revenue Body Cracks Down on Tax Dodger

Washington, July 31 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service, says Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, doesn't want to be unfair. But it views with decided disdain such income-tax dodges as:

Charging $48,000 for "call girls" as a business expense.

Claiming deductions for lingerie, perfume and Cadillacs for lady friends.

Listing the cost of a private swimming pool as a "water purification experiment."

Andrews told a House Ways and Means subcommittee yesterday of these actual attempts to avoid taxes.

"It seems the greedy get greedier, and the more you get the more you want to keep," Andrews said. He reported his agency was cracking down hard on devious methods by which some have tried to reduce their tax bills.

Market Stays . . .

a few more gainers than losers in the list.

Aircraft Strong

The aircraft were strong then, and they finished the week with a display of strength. But they weren't alone in their vigor. Almost all other divisions of the market were higher including some that aren't usually heard from in booming markets. They included the tobaccos, shipbuilders, watch makers, textiles, and distillers.

Some days ago, traders abandoned the blue chips on the theory that they had attained their maximum rise for a while. Attention then was turned to secondary issues, low-priced stocks, and what Wall street fondly calls special situations.

Earnings statements and dividends brought pronounced moves in individual stocks, and the floating money supply was shifted rapidly into various groups from time to time as they were brushed with good news developments.

Distilling issues were given at least two buying whirls when Congress extended tax relief to the industry. Shipbuilding stocks were bid up on the strength of naval contracts. Watches soared as President Eisenhower ordered a 50 per cent hike in the tariff on imported watches, tobaccos gained on reports of better production and good earnings by key companies.

Merger news excited the market several times. The biggest flurry came Friday after Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, confirmed Wall Street rumors that merger talks were progressing with Youngstown Sheet & Tube, the industry's sixth largest producer. Bethlehem is second. Youngstown soared immediately to close with a gain of 5½ at $8, and Bethlehem was up 2½ at 80½.

Basically, the stock market had a firm foundation of favorable news. Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of U. S. Steel, the nation's number one producer, predicted a pickup in steel demand by the end of August. There were other expressions of confidence by business men in the nation's economic future.

Earnings High

Earnings reports of key corporations were higher, some at record peaks for the first half or second quarter. Congress finally passed and sent to the White House the huge tax bill which cuts many taxes for corporations and individuals. And the government indicated that it would give business a nudge later this year with a faster spending tempo.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange included:

Curtiss-Wright up ½ at 12½ on 134,200 shares, Avco Mfg. up ½ at 5½, Raytheon Mfg. up ½ at 14½, U. S. Steel up ½ at 55½, General Dynamics up 8½ at 61½.

The five most active issues on the American Stock Exchange were:

Waltham Watch up ½ at 1½ on 130,000 shares, Equity Corp. unchanged at 3½, Merrill Petroleum up 1/16 at 7½, Webb & Knapp unchanged at 1½, and Claude Neon unchanged at 5½.

Flanders Faces

sert that the Vermont senator's resolution was "not supported on its face by a single allegation of fact."

Cordon said the resolution ought to be sent to a committee for study. That would postpone any immediate showdown on the issue—an eventuality that appeared to be welcomed by many senators not inclined to commit themselves in this election year.

Morse, who characterized McCarthy's conduct as "political thuggery," declared that the Senate must have specific charges before it such as he said no committee yet had made against McCarthy.

As McCarthy sat nearby reading a newspaper, Morse declared:

"There are plenty of things on which he (McCarthy) deserves censure but they ought to be set out."

Knowland, who had told the Senate it was being asked to condemn a member "without the formal filing of specifications," said in an interview that he believed Cordon and Morse had made "effective points."

Cordon said that if no one else does, he will move to send Flanders' resolution to the judiciary committee headed by Sen. Langer (R-S.D.) not listed as among McCarthy's admirers.

McCarthy on Floor

McCarthy, silent most of the time as Flanders raked his record and Dirksen defended him, made an unsuccessful attempt to force an immediate showdown in what Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) described as "an area of personal disagreement" in the Senate.

Rhee Carries . . .

ers, however, that he does not believe "the United States should attack" Communist China at once. He said he believed his Congress speech had been misinterpreted as advising immediate invasion of the mainland.

Invasion should be a "long-range" policy rather than an immediate goal, he said.

The joint statement brought to an end the week-long round of conferences which Rhee and other South Korean officials have held with President Eisenhower. Secretary of State Dulles and other American leaders. The final talks were held at the State Department yesterday after Eisenhower left town for a weekend of rest and recreation at Camp David, Md.

To Address VFW

Rhee's schedule called for a speech at Philadelphia before the Veterans of Foreign Wars Sunday night, following a flying visit to New York today and a brief return here to attend church services tomorrow.

Monday he will be in New York again and will speak at a banquet of the Korean-American Foundation that night. He will visit Chicago Wednesday, then fly to Los Angeles with a stop en route at Kansas City with former President Truman. He is due to speak in Los Angeles and San Francisco before leaving from the west coast for Korea on Aug. 8.

Knowland Asks

S. C.) blocked him before the Senate got snarled up in the McCarthy issue.

Two Changes Made

The Senate made two changes in the bulky bill during debate which lasted from 9 a. m. until early evening:

1. It approved 86-2 an amendment by Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) to add 10 million dollars to a 23½ million dollar fund for technical cooperation in Latin American nations.

2. Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) helped Smathers by telling the Senate that South American leaders reported the recent Communist trouble in Guatemala could break out in other Latin American nations.

By an 88-0 vote the Senate in a separate resolution asked President Eisenhower to take independent action in restoring sovereignty to western Germany if France and Italy continue their delay in ratifying the European Defense Community (EDC).

Road Roller Damaged By Explosion and Fire

A road roller on the Philip Totonelli contract job at the approach to the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge at East Kingston was damaged by an explosion and fire about 5:20 p. m. Friday.

Fire Chief James Costello of East Kingston reported.

When firemen arrived, they found the gasoline tank ripped open by an explosion, wires damaged and a section of wooden roof burning. They used CO2 to extinguish the blaze, along with some water on the roof structure.

The fire chief said the cause of the fire has not been determined, and that apparently the roller was not in use at the time. No one was reported injured. A truck driver called in the alarm.

Killed on Parkway

Yorktown Heights, July 31 (AP)—Elisha Smith, 56, a service station attendant of (Pine Bridge Road) Ossining, was killed last night when struck by a car as he crossed the Taconic Parkway. Police said the automobile was driven by Sheldon H. Pitkin, 25, of Syracuse.

Over Niagara in Barrel

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 31 (AP)—Major Lloyd Hill rode a bobbing steel barrel yesterday through the swirling Niagara river rapids—not far from the spot where Prospect Point and part of the American Falls collapsed Wednesday.

Jackson, Miss., July 31 (AP)—Gov. Hugh White disappointed over Negroes' rejection of "segregation by consent," said the Legislature would convene Sept. 7 to consider abolishing public schools to preserve segregation in Mississippi. In announcing the special session, White told the Legal Educational Advisory Committee (LEAC) yesterday that until the last few days, he believed a certain element of Negroes would support separate but equal schools.

Speaks for Ground Forces

Harriman, July 31 (AP)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway, army chief of staff, says the nation should not forget the value of ground forces in an overemphasis on air power and nuclear weapons. "It is vitally important to remember that wars are won by the achievement of domination over human beings and the territory they inhabit, and that only land forces can achieve and maintain such domination," he declared last night.

Hits Property Fence; Fined $10 in Court

Edward Pietrowski, 61, of Linderman avenue extension, who was arrested about midnight by Officers Everett Emmick and Joseph Kivlan charged with driving south on Wall street as an unsupervised learner, was fined $10 this morning in city court by Special Judge Henry Gold.

Pietrowski was arrested after he was in collision with a 35-foot fence on the property of E. J. Linson of 113 Fair street, police said. The car was damaged in the right fence.

Suggests Condenser

Washington, July 31 (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) today suggested that the Senate Investigations Subcommittee "hire a condenser to condense the condensation" of McCarthy-Army hearings testimony prepared by Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins. Potter and other subcommittee members said Jenkins' summary of the evidence and testimony is so voluminous they may not be able to wade through it and write their verdict before Congress adjourns.

Gives Tunis Control

Tunis, Tunisia, July 31 (AP)—France gave Tunis control of its internal affairs today with a few strings attached—in a lightning effort by Premier Pierre Mendes-France to end the terrorism in this troubled protectorate. Acting with the authority of his cabinet, the premier told the Bey of Tunis that if he desired, a new government could be formed which, except for defense and foreign affairs, would be empowered to negotiate with France the terms of the new internal sovereignty.

No Cool Clue

New York, July 31 (AP)—The weather man, hot under the collar like everybody else here these days, scanned his charts today for just any kind of a hint of a cool breeze heading this way. Then he mopped his brow again and opined that, if there were any such clue, he certainly couldn't find it. By this time the blazing morning sun already had boosted the temperature above yesterday's mark for the same hour.

Plane Is Located

Wiesbaden, Germany, July 31 (AP)—A giant air-sea search for a U. S.-bound airliner reported down in the North Sea with 72 persons aboard was called off at the last minute today when word came that the plane had landed safely in Iceland. A spokesman at U. S. Air Force headquarters tabbed as a "false alarm" the report that the big plane belonging to Transocean Airlines had "ditched" in the North Sea while en route from Frankfurt to the United States.

Contempt of Congress

Washington, July 31 (AP)—The House voted contempt of Congress citations yesterday against two Chicagoans who refused to answer questions before a House Labor Subcommittee in connection with an investigation of alleged mishandling of labor union welfare funds. The two are Allen Dorfman, an agent of the Union Casualty & Life Insurance Co. of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and his father, Paul Dorfman, head of the Chicago Waste Handlers Union.

Rejects Food Offer

Berlin, July 31 (AP)—The East German Communists today rejected President Eisenhower's offer of food and other aid for flood victims in the Soviet zone. The official paper organ, Neues Deutschland, called the offer "disreputable" and a guise for American hiring of agents and spies. It suggested the United States would "better" provide some real help "for West Germany by reducing occupation costs."

Hudson Officers Deny Taking Any Protection Money

Hudson, July 31 (AP)—Four of nine Hudson policemen suspended on charges of misconduct have testified at their departmental trial that they never took protection money from gambler Benjamin Goldstein or anyone connected with him.

The officers, who took the stand yesterday in their own defense, also denied the general charges brought against them. They testified that they had passed along to their superiors some information obtained concerning gambling or prostitution.

Goldstein had testified as a prosecution witness that he paid all nine of the officers to protect a floating crap game.

The policemen who appeared yesterday were Patrolmen William Spanburg, William Fitzgerald, Lloyd Hart and Joseph Harkinson.

The other defendants, Sgts. Frederick Finck and William Egan, and Patrolmen Arthur Finch, Lawrence McDonald and Joseph Patera, were expected to testify today.

All Nine Accused

All nine are charged with agreeing and conspiring among themselves to aid, abet and assist gamblers, bookmakers and operators of houses of prostitution from 1947 to sometime in 1950.

Spanburg and Fitzgerald, citing an example of action taken against gamblers, told of raiding a restaurant dice game in 1949 with Thomas P. Kennedy, former Columbia District Attorney.

Earlier yesterday, Kennedy, now county attorney, and Sheriff Milton V. Saulpaugh took the stand to deny testimony by Goldstein that the gamblers had paid them in 1949 and 1950 to protect gambling in the city.

Says He Contributed

Recalled to the stand later in the day, Kennedy said he had contributed to a fund raised to help Goldstein defend himself against bribery charges. He said he had given his contribution to Richard Saulpaugh, brother of the ex-sheriff.

Saulpaugh, testifying the day before, said he had loaned Goldstein money to open a taxi business and had collected money for the gambler's defense in order to protect his loan.

Kennedy said he had contributed to the fund out of friendship with Richard Saulpaugh.

Drivers who are arrested on such charges as speeding, reckless driving, and operating vehicles without licenses will be given the new state tickets in the fall.

The tickets will permit "no fixing" because copies are sent to Albany, and licenses will be marked with such violations as are sustained. The licenses of drivers, who now forfeit bail on such charges as speeding are not marked.

Mayor Arrested

Birmingham, Ala., July 31 (AP)—Mayor Elmer E. Reese of Phenix City, Ala., was roused from his sleep in a Birmingham Hotel early today and arrested on a charge of wilful neglect of duty. The warrant, served on Mayor Reese by Lt. Col. Jack Warren, military sheriff of Russell county under the limited martial law which has prevailed in Phenix City for the past nine days, charged the city official with permitting the operation of slot machines. Reese was in Birmingham as a spectator to attend today's meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee at which an attempt was to be made to nullify the nomination of three Russell county officials because of disclosures of fraudulent voting in the recent Democratic primary.

To Continue Hotel

New York, July 31 (AP)—The Hotel Astor, a landmark of the Times Square area, has been leased by the real estate firm of Webb & Knapp and two associates—Jack D. Weiler of New York and Benjamin H. Swig of San Francisco. Rumors that the 51-year-old hotel will be replaced by an office building were immediately denied by William Zeckendorf, president of Webb & Knapp. "On the contrary," he said, "we are now making plans to elaborate the old world conform and services which make the Astor renowned."

Shooting Spree

Highland Park, N. J., July 31 (AP)—A husband went on a shooting spree early today after a family argument, killed his sister-in-law, critically wounded his wife, and then shot himself to death, police reported. Authorities said Charles W. Westendorf, 30, critically wounded his wife, Gloria, 28, killed his sister-in-law, Irene C. Jones, 28, of Belmar, and then turned the gun on himself. Both Westendorf and his sister-in-law died instantly from the bullet wounds.

Fire Damages Famed Pier

Atlantic City, N. J., July 31 (AP)—Fire starting under the boardwalk last night ate out part of the famed Steel Pier here, causing damage near a half million dollars. Four stores at this mecca for sightseers and convention delegates were damaged as the flames raced along a half-block area.

Truman Back to Work

Kansas City, July 31 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, who underwent an operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix July 20, worked in his office here for an hour yesterday. It was Truman's first visit to his office since being discharged from the hospital July 7.

Revenue Body Cracks Down on Tax Dodger

Washington, July 31 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service, says Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, doesn't want to be unfair. But it views with decided disdain such income-tax dodges as:

Charging $48,000 for "call girls" as a business expense. Claiming deductions for lingerie, perfume and Cadillac for lady friends.

Listing the cost of a private swimming pool as a "water purification experiment."

Andrews told a House Ways and Means subcommittee yesterday of these actual attempts to avoid taxes.

"It seems the greedy get greedier, and the more you get the more you want to keep," Andrews said. He reported his agency was cracking down hard on devious methods by which some have tried to reduce their tax bills.

Market Stays . . .

a few more gainers than losers in the list.

Aircraft Strong

The aircrafts were strong then, and they finished the week with a display of strength. But they weren't alone in their vigor. Almost all other divisions of the market were higher, including some that aren't usually heard from in booming markets. They included the tobaccos, shipbuilders, watch makers, textiles, and distillers.

Some days ago, traders abandoned the blue chips on the theory that they had attained their maximum rise for a while. Attention then was turned to secondary, low-priced stocks, and what Wall Street fondly calls special situations.

Earnings statements and dividends brought pronounced moves in individual stocks, and the floating money supply was shifted rapidly into various groups from time to time as they were brushed with good news developments.

Distilling issues were given at least two buying whirls when Congress extended tax relief to the industry. Shipbuilding stocks were bid up on the strength of naval contracts. Watches soared as President Eisenhower ordered a 50 per cent hike in the tariff on imported watches, tobaccos gained on reports of better production and good earnings by key companies.

Merger news excited the market several times. The biggest flurry came Friday after Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, confirmed Wall Street rumors that merger talks were progressing with Youngstown Sheet & Tube, the industry's sixth largest producer. Bethlehem's second, Youngstown, secured immediately to close with a gain of 5½ at 58, and Bethlehem was up 2½ at 80½.

Basically, the stock market had a firm foundation of favorable news. Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of U. S. Steel, the nation's number one producer, predicted a pickup in steel demand by the end of August. There were other expressions of confidence by business men in the nation's economic future.

Earnings High

Earnings reports of key corporations were higher, some at record peaks for the first half or second quarter. Congress finally passed and sent to the White House the huge tax bill which cuts many taxes for corporations and individuals. And the government indicated that it would give business a nudge later this year with a faster spending tempo.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange included: Curtiss-Wright up ¾ at 12½; Curtiss-Wright up ¾ at 12½; Curtiss-Wright up ¾ at 12½; Curtiss-Wright up ¾ at 12½; Curtiss-Wright up ¾ at 12½.

The five most active issues on the American Stock Exchange were: Waltham Watch up ¾ at 1½ on 130,000 shares, Equity Corp. unchanged at 3¾, Merrill Petroleum up 1/16 at 7¼, Webb & Knapp unchanged at 1½, and Claude Neon unchanged at 5½.

Flanders Faces

sert that the Vermont senator's resolution was "not supported on its face by a single allegation of fact."

Cordon said the resolution ought to be sent to a committee for study. That would postpone any immediate showdown on the issue—an eventuality that appeared to be welcomed by many senators not inclined to commit themselves in this election year.

Morse, who characterized McCarthy's conduct as "political thuggery," declared that the Senate must have specific charges before it such as he said no committee yet had made against McCarthy.

As McCarthy sat nearby reading a newspaper, Morse declared:

"There are plenty of things on which he (McCarthy) deserves censure, but they ought to be set out."

Knowland, who had told the Senate it was being asked to condemn a member "without the formal filing of specifications," said in an interview that he believed Cordon and Morse had made "effective points."

Cordon said that if no one else does, he will move to send Flanders' resolution to the judiciary committee headed by Sen. Langer (R-S.D.), not listed as among McCarthy's admirers.

McCarthy on Floor

McCarthy, silent most of the time as Flanders raked his record and Dirksen defended him, made an unsuccessful attempt to force an immediate showdown in what Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) described as "an area of personal disagreement" in the Senate.

Rhee Carries . . .

ers, however, that he does not believe "the United States should attack" Communist China at once. He said he believed his Congress speech had been misinterpreted as advising immediate invasion of the mainland.

Invasion should be a "long-range" policy rather than an immediate goal, he said. The joint statement brought to an end the week-long round of conferences which Rhee and other South Korean officials have held with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and other American leaders. The final talks were held at the State Department yesterday after Eisenhower left town for a weekend of rest and recreation at Camp David, Md.

To Address VFW

Rhee's schedule called for a speech at Philadelphia before the Veterans of Foreign Wars Sunday night, following a flying visit to New York today and a brief return here to attend church services tomorrow.

Monday he will be in New York again and will speak at a banquet of the Korean-American Foundation that night. He will visit Chicago Wednesday, then fly to Los Angeles with a stop en route at Kansas City with former President Truman. He is due to speak in Los Angeles and San Francisco before leaving from the west coast for Korea on Aug. 8.

Knowland Asks

S.C.) blocked him before the Senate got snarled up in the McCarthy issue.

Two Changes Made

The Senate made two changes in the bulky bill during debate which lasted from 9 a. m. until early evening:

1. It approved 86-2 an amendment by Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) to add 10 million dollars to a 23½ million dollar fund for technical cooperation in Latin American nations.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) helped Smathers by telling the Senate that South American leaders reported the recent Communist trouble in Guatemala could break out in other Latin American nations.

2. Sen. Malone urged the administration on a 49-40 vote that knocked from the bill a "strategic materials" section carried in previous aid bills and the one already passed by the House.

By an 88-0 vote the Senate in a separate resolution asked President Eisenhower to take independent action in restoring sovereignty to western Germany if France and Italy continue their delay in ratifying the European Defense Community (EDC).

Road Roller Damaged By Explosion and Fire

A road roller on the Philip Totonelli contract job at the approach to the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge at East Kingston was damaged by an explosion and fire about 5:20 p. m. Friday, Fire Chief James Costello of East Kingston reported.

When firemen arrived, they found the gasoline tank ripped open by an explosion, wires damaged and a section of wooden roof burning. They used CO2 to extinguish the blaze, along with some water on the roof structure.

The fire chief said the cause of the fire has not been determined, and that apparently the roller was not in use at the time. No one was reported injured. A truck driver called in the alarm.
